LOCAL LEADER

C. F. BRONSON

As chairman of the Marion County Red Cross chapter, Mr. Bronson will have charge of part of the regional Red Cross conference here Wednesday. The conference will be addressed by national and sectional leaders in Red Cross work.

* * *

200 EXPECTED AT MEET HERE

Red Cross Workers of Northern Ohio To Attend Regional Sessions.

WORK WILL BE DISCUSSED

National Officers Will Talk on Program from Three Angles.

Nearly 200 Red Cross workers from over northern Ohio are expected to hear work of that organization discussed from three angles, nationally, sectionally and in counties, Wednesday when Marion's first regional Red Cross conference convenes in Hotel Harding.

The conference, which will last through the day, will be attended by national Red Cross officers, among whom are Everett Dix of Washington, D. C., assistant manager of the eastern area; Edward Marcellus of Washington, national director of the Junior Red Cross, and H. J. Hughes of Washington, legal advisor to the American Red Cross.

To Be Speakers

These three officials, in addition to numerous other workers, will address conference sessions or group discussions during the one-day meeting.

C. F. Bronson, chairman of the Marion County chapter, will preside at the luncheon session, which will divide the morning and afternoon meetings. Howard James, chairman of tfhe Seneca county chapter, will have charge of the morning session, starting at 10 a. m. and Harry Sousley, chairman of the Ada chapter, will direct the work in the afternoon. The conference is scheduled to adjourn at 3:30 p. m.

The conference, held annually, usually meets in larger cities in Ohio and is the largest Red Cross meeting in the state.

Miss Lillian Plack, acting executive secretary of the local chapter, and F. S. Spaulding of Columbus, field representative for this district, have been in charge of plans for the meeting.

A special invitation to anyone in the Marion district who is interested in Red Cross activities to attend was extended today by Miss Plack.

An address of welcome by Mayor W. C. Phillians will open the morning session, followed by an address, "Junior Red Cross As a Factor in Social Service," by Mr. Marcellus. Mr. Dix then will explain financial needs of the Red Cross, both locally and nationally. A forum, starting at 11:15 a. m., is titled "Planning the 1933 Roll Call." This session will adjourn at noon.

Mrs. Lindbergh Getting Anxious To Return Home

By The Associated Press

GALWAY, IRISH FREE STATE, Oct. 24—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh is getting homesick.

"I'm terribly anxious," said the wife of the famous American airman after their hop from Southampton, England, "to see my baby . . ."

"Yes, I'll be glad to be back home again."

She insisted, however, the long trip with her husband has not been tiresome and she said she considered Ireland one of the most delightful lands over which they have flown.

But perhaps there was a reason: The westerly part of Ireland, Colonel Lindbergh pointed out to his wife, gave him his first sight of land after his historic lone Atlantic crossing years ago.

Even the quiet-mannered colonel confessed seeing the land again gave him a "thrill of pleasure."

After their aerial survey of the northern coast of Ireland, the Lindbergh's will fly to Scotland.

REPEAL TO BE BIG ISSUE AT OHIO ELECTION

Voters Will Decide on Two Important Governmental Measures.

TAX LIMITATION PROPOSED

Amendment Favoring County Home Rule Also Up For Decision.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24—Among the sheaf of ballots to be handed each voter in the state Nov. 7 will be two containing five statewide issues—these in addition to the mass of ballots on local elections the voter may be expected to ponder and mark.

Of the issues claiming statewide attention two deal with the dominant problem of prohibition repeal, two deal with changes that may profoundly affect Ohio's governmental setup in the near future, and one attacks a social problem with a proposal for old age pensions.

State and national repeal will be judged by the state's pollgoers. On state prohibition they will vote "yes" or "no" on the proposal to repeal Ohio statutes which make a crime of the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes.

On national prohibition, the franchise will be exercised to elect delegates to a constitutional convention Dec. 5 for the purpose of formally ratifying or rejecting the twenty-first amendment, which would repeal the eighteenth. Thirty-three states have voted repeal.

Important Proposals

The two proposals that may alter the course of government in Ohio are the 10 mill real estate tax limitation amendment and the county home rule amendment. The first, if successful, would at once require drastic revision of budgets and the levying of taxes from new sources to replace revenue now furnished under a 15 mill limitation.

The second would charter counties to reorganize units within their borders if the voters of the county approved.

The ballot on state repeal will be simple to mark and easy to count, entailing as it does only a "yes" or "no" vote.

Some complications, however, attend the national referendum, provided by mandate of congress and by act of the state legislature in the form of the Mosier-Lawrence bill.

The latter provided for three slates of 52 candidates each—for repeal, opposed to repeal, and unpledged, chosen at large. No unpledged candidates filed.

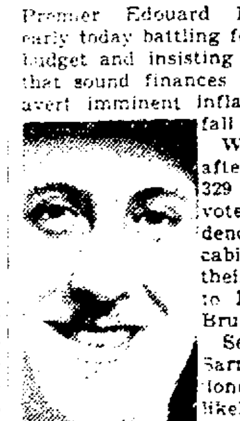
FRANCE HURRIES TO FORM NEW MINISTRY

Daladier Cabinet Resigns After Defeat in Vote of Confidence.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 24—The cabinet of Premier Edouard Daladier fell early today battling for a balanced budget and insisting to the last that sound finances alone could avert imminent inflation and the fall of the franc.



E. Daladier

Within an hour after its defeat 329 to 241 on a vote of confidence, the entire cabinet presented their resignations to President Le Brun.

Senator Albert Sarraut, was mentioned as the most likely to succeed M. Daladier. Owing to the bitterness which developed in the chamber, it was not considered likely a deputy would be considered.

As M. Daladier fell, he burned his bridges behind him in an open break with the socialists—reproaching their millionaire dealer, Leon Blum, for negotiating a compromise and then refusing to support it.

Usually calm and deliberate, the premier raised his arms in violent gestures as he denounced Blum, who appeared to take tragically the supposed end of his power seen in the socialist split on the vote.

The vote, after days of heated discussion, came on a compromise amendment which woud have pared in half the government's original proposed slash in functionaries' salaries.

The premier had proposed new taxes and stringent economies in connection with a program to balance the budget and protect the franc.

3 MINERS KILLED IN FALL OF SLATE

By The Associated Press

McKEESPORT, Pa., Oct. 24—Three men were killed and nine injured today in a slate fall at the Hubbard mine of the McKeesport Coal & Coke Co.

An eight-ton ledge of slate crashed onto a train of cars carrying miners to work. About 40 other men who escaped death or injury leaped from the cars and tried desperately to rescue their fellow-workers buried beneath the avalanche.

Marion County Grange Wins Regional Contest

Bethlehem Group Victor at Findlay, Gains Right To Compete in State Finals in Wooster.

Bethlehem Grange No. 1956 of Marion county became one of three bidders for the state championship in the Ohio Grange program contest when it won regional honors at Findlay last night in competition with Fulton and Hardin county granges.

The Bethlehem grange program will be presented at Wooster on Dec. 12-14 in the state finals in competition with programs of two other granges.

L. J. Taber of Columbus national Grange master, and Walter F. Kirk of Port Clinton, state Grange master, were speakers on the regional contest program last night.

Bethlehem grange was one of 475 Ohio granges to enter in the contest several months ago. Last night's competition was the fifth presentation of the program, Bethlehem having previously won in sub-county, county, tri-county and district contests.

Sixty-one persons took part in Bethlehem grange's program. Fifty other persons from Marion county were among the audience of 800 that saw the regional contest in Findlay.

Program By Marion

The program began with the opening of a grange meeting. While the opening song was being played, a farm family passing was attracted by the music. Invited to take part in the meeting, they looked on while a grange "booster program" was presented. This consisted of a chorus, vocal duet, German band, an exercise covering different phases of Grange work, a pantomime, double quartet and a brief talk on the significance of grange work.

Principal characters in the cast were Paul Smith, who took the part of Olive H. Kelly, founder of the grange movement, and Miss Edna Reed of Waldo, who appeared as Carrie Hall, mother of the grange.

The program was in charge of S. B. Stowe, lecturer of Bethlehem grange, assisted by a committee composed of Mrs. Milton Isler, Miss Marie Bender, Mrs. Joseph Almendinger, Harold Compton, Robert Denzer, Mrs. Gail Smith and Levi Lukens.

Other Granges in the regional contest were Aegna Grange No. 310 of Fulton county, of which Gladys Barker is lecturer, and Washington Grange No. 576 of Hardin county, of which Mildred Lease is lecturer.

The contest was in charge of J. W. Fichter of Columbus, state Grange lecturer.

Lecturer Stowe said today that a

RELIEF SCHOOL COUNCIL NAMED

Group To Administer Educational Venture Selected by Chairman.

Y'S MEN'S CLUB TO AID

Survey Will Be Made To Find Suitable Location for Classes.

A council to administer the "jobless" school in Marion was formed yesterday afternoon at a meeting in Hotel Harding under the direction of George A. Bowman, city superintendent of schools, who was named as chairman of the council by Dr. B. O. Skinner, state director of education.

The group, to be known as the county work relief education council, consists of D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools, Rev. Carl V. Roop of the United Brethren church, Ralph K. Ruppart, secretary of the Marion Central Labor union, Clarence Snyder, Earl N. Hale, general secretary of the Marion Y. M. C. A., Dr. S. Sifritt, county health officer, W. D. Brown, manager of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, Mrs J. M. Quigley, Edgar Barnhart, Harry F. Margwarth, Mrs. W. N. Harder, Carl Ebert and Sherman Haldeman, president of the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce.

John Abel, county relief director, is an ex-officio member of the council.

The council accepted Snyder's offer that the Y's Men's club will take over a canvass to determine the availability of rooms in which the classes can be held. Any one having rooms suitable for this use are asked to leave word with the Chamber of Commerce, from where lists will be supplied to Y's Men's club.

No plans for enrolling teacher for the schools have been settled yet but will be announced shortly. Until that time, Mr. Bowman said, persons desiring these positions should not make application.

Another meeting of the council is scheduled for next Monday noon in Hotel Harding, when progress on plans will be announced.

DILLINGER BLAMED FOR INDIANA HOLDUP

Fugitive Pen Convicts Also Sought as Aids in $74,000 Robbery.

By The Associated Press

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Oct. 24—A gang headed by John Dillinger, Indiana and Ohio desperado, and including several convicts who shot their way out of Indiana state prison, Sept. 26, was hunted today by police, who believed its members robbed the Central National Bank & Trust company here yesterday.

Four gunmen obtained cash and bonds said by Kenneth West, cashier, to total $74,782.09. At least $16,000 was in currency.

Claude Dozier of the state bureau of criminal identification said witnesses partially identified the bandits as Dillinger, recently liberated from the Lima, O., jail by three men who killed Sheriff Jess Sarber; Harry Pierpont and Walter Dietrich, both fugitive convicts, and Harry Copeland, alleged Dillinger associate on parole from the prison.

Pork for Relief Use Allotted to Marion County

Announcement that 11,600 pounds of salt pork has been assigned to Marion county for relief purposes was made today by John Abel, county relief director.

Abel said the pork will be shipped here soon and will be stored for distribution to persons receiving aid.

The pork, derived from the young pigs bought up by the government in its recent slaughtering program, will be suitable for numerous food uses, Abel said. Instructions as to its use will be issued as it is distributed, he said. It will be given out in addition to the present grocery orders.

Capt. John Ray, a field man for the state relief commission, is surveying the county relief situation with Abel, and is expected to remain here at least the rest of the week. Several recommendations for changes in the handling of relief cases have been made, Abel said, but as yet have not been confirmed by the state commission.

No personnel changes have been made, Abel said, and none are contemplated in the near future.

PRESIDENT HAS COLD

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—President Roosevelt set up his workshop for today in the White House study, remaining away from his office because of a slight cold. The cold was described as a "slight irritation," but because of the rainy weather it was said the President decided to remain in the executive mansion.

London Surprised at U.S. Move for Russian Credit

Observers Amazed That Soviet Places Industrial Purchases Before Needs for Foodstuffs.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 24—Observers in close touch with the Russian situation expressed amazement today at a report from New York that $50,000,000 credit was being sought on behalf of the Soviet in connection with President Roosevelt's overtures looking to possible American recognition — with $400,000,000 wanted for machinery and steel rails and $50,000,000 for cotton.

The observers said rails form one of the direst of Russian needs, but pointed out that Russia's most urgent need is for foodstuffs and livestock of all kinds.

Independent agricultural economists here say Russia could absorb the whole world's agricultural surplus on long-term credits.

Instead, it was noted, American farmers are destroying millions of pigs they could have shipped to Russia and likewise many cattle which could easily be transported on both land and sea.

Huge Meteor Is Traced by Wesleyan

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 24—The brilliant meteor which was seen at Perkins observatory of Ohio Wesleyan university here on the night of October 11 may have fallen into one of the Great Lakes or in southern Canada, it was reported Tuesday by Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, director.

Because the fireball was seen in many Ohio points, it was likely much larger than the usual meteor, Dr. Stetson said.

Observers who saw the meteor have responded to Dr. Stetson's request for information as to its relative position in the night sky, and from their reports was based the conclusion that the celestial visitor may have ended its flight through space in Lake Erie or one of the other Great Lakes.

The fireball first was reported by F. E. Roach of the observatory staff, who said the object began its flight near the star Alpha Persei in the northeast, and that it seemed to break into two parts as it hit the earth's atmosphere.

Letters written to the observatory by Ohioans who saw the phenomenon confirm Roach's observation, Dr. Stetson declared.

Roach did not see the meteor through the observatory's 69-inch telescope, but happened to be on the roof of the observatory when he saw the giant fireball shoot through the heavens.

Cities and towns from which letters have come regarding the meteor are Brewster, Canton, Columbus, Dalton, Dresden, Delaware, Etna, Kenton, Zanesville, Marion, Paris, Sandusky and Tiffin. In several cases two or three persons in each town wrote the observatory.

PREPARE CODE FOR INDUSTRY

Roosevelt, Johnson To Rule on Proposals of Construction Compact.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—NRA codes for the construction industries are at a stage where Administrator Hugh S. Johnson and President Roosevelt soon must rule on the proposal that wage boosts be withheld for a year as an inducement to investors.

This plan, formulated by economists and deputy administrators in charge of the "capital goods" industries, is based on the contention that a mandatory increase in wages one year hence and a second step-up later, will tempt capital to come out of hiding immediately and start a mild rise in construction that will prevent a sudden boom later when demand is acute. Labor is bitterly opposed.

Before the question is confronted definitely, Johnson is expected to announce his reorganization of NRA as a semi-permanent administrative unit subdivided under four deputies. Included also is a nation wide structure of enforcement offices to supervise operation of codes and obtain voluntary compliance from merchants and manufacturers violating their terms.

Enforcement Easier

This enforcement task was believed to have been made immeasurably easier by NRA's retreat from the small towns in which are hundreds of thousands of miscellaneous trade establishments whose operations are regarded as almost beyond external regulation.

Hopes were strong also that this withdrawal, expressly announced as a concession to the farmer, who

Busy "Leaders"

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 24—Farmers are having a tough time, but they had no idea they were so bad off until they joined an organization and had some paid leaders tell 'em how poor they were.

If ever an industry was having a field day, it's the industry of paid leaders in every line, who are explaining to their followers "what the government owes to them."

I haven't seen a copy of the Constitution in years (I guess they are out of print), but I don't remember in there anything about what it was to do if you raised too much, or if you manufactured too much, or if you went in debt too much, or if you drove your automobile too much, or if you bathed in your bath rooms too much.

In fact, if I remember right, we owed more to the Constitution that it did to us.

OFFICIALS BACK CAMPAIGN FOR SURVEY FUNDS

Action Taken After Efforts Fail To Get Reduction in Domestic Rate.

PHONE QUESTION OPENED

Say Charges Should Be Lowered Since Service Has Been Decreasing.

Efforts to negotiate reductions in domestic water rates failing, city council last night came to an open break with the Marion Water Co. by lending moral and possible financial support to the campaign of the Citizen's Utility committee to raise $1,600 fund for municipal ownership projects here.

In a follow-up movement to council's reduce-utility-charges campaign started last March, City Solicitor Carter M. Patton also was authorized to petition the state utility commission for reduced telephone rates here, based on a 50 per cent drop in the number of subscribers, resulting, members of council said, in 50 per cent less service.

Negotiations with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. for rate reductions are still pending, members of the ordinance and franchise committee reported, shedding still further light on the attack on utility rates here.

Urges City Plant

Last night's utility discussion reached its peak when Councilman W. G. Slack, in commenting on the water company's offer of a five per cent reduction on unsoftened water for domestic use, said, "If the city ever is to receive rates much less than the present ones, there is only one way to accomplish it; that is to establish a municipal water plant with rates and facilities adequate to allow the use of the normally required amount of water under a minimum charge."

Slack struck at the present rates by declaring that it is impossible for a family of five persons now, using only normal amounts of water to keep under the minimum charge of $3 every two months.

He referred to efforts of the ordinance and franchise committee to get reductions in domestic rates and to have the minimum rate raised to 400 cubic feet a month, an increase of one-third. This request has never been definitely replied to by the water company, he said.

Council accepted an offer of the water company to reduce hydrant rentals by 10 per cent, effecting a saving of approximately $5,200 a year. The offer of a five per cent reduction on domestic rates through use of unsoftened water, however, was rejected.

Proposes City Aid

Councilman William M. Fabian proposed that council seek a way to turn "several hundred dollars," from $200 to $400, he said, over to the Citizens' Utility committee to aid in their efforts of raising the $1,600 survey fund. This was referred to the city solicitor to determine the legality of council aiding in the finance of a project not definitely under city sponsorship.

Expressions of gratitude for efforts of members of the ordinance and franchise committee in seeking reduced utility rates were made by Mayor W. C. Phillians and James E. Messenger, council president.

Council also adopted a motion authorizing the filing of an appli-

LINDY CASE SUSPECT SCOFFS AT INQUIRY

Police, However, Check Prisoner Closely To Determine Possible Connection.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 24 — John Gorch scoffed at the idea that he might be the "John" who got the Lindbergh ransom money, but police and federal operatives questioned him today.

Lieut. Thomas Keating of New Jersey police was enroute with photographic copies of the ransom notes which resulted in Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon paying the $50,000 ransom. "Jafsie" himself may come to see if he can identify Gorch.

A New York detective was to join federal men in investigating Gorch's past. Gorch was arrested Saturday, is held in $10,000 bail in connection with a Philadelphia real estate swindle. He had a receipt for a New York safety vault which, it is understood, police will search.

MAIN RETAIL CODE POINTS

Wage Requirements, Working Hours, Are Summarized in Report.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 A summary of the main points of the retail code's provisions as signed by President Roosevelt, follows.

Collective Bargaining

Employes shall have the right to bargain collectively through organizations of their own choosing and maximum hours of labor and minimum rates of pay shall comply with conditions prescribed by the President.

Child Labor

No person under 16 shall be employed except those of 14 and 15 between the hours of 7 a. m and 7 p. m which do not conflict with the school hours of the employe. No person under 16 shall be employed to make deliveries of merchandise from a motor vehicle.

Working Hours

A Establishment remaining open less than 56 hours a week but not less than 52 hours shall not work its employes more than 40 hours a week, eight hours a day or more than six days a week.

B – Establishment remaining open 56 hours a week but not more than 63 hours shall not work its employes more than 44 hours a week, nine hours a day, nor more than six days a week.

C — Establishments remaining open more than 63 hours a week shall not work their employes more than 48 hours a week, ten hours a day nor more than six days a week.

These provisions do not apply to those in the executive categories, professional persons, outside salesmen, collectors, watchmen, guards and store detectives.

At Christmas and inventory periods employes in the above three classes may be called on to work not in excess of an additional eight hours weekly without the payment of overtime.

Wages

In cities of 500,000 or over 40-hour week, $14; 44-hour week, $14.50, 48-hour week, $15. Cities 100,000 to 500,000 $13, $13.50 and $14, respectively. Cities 25,000 to 100,000 $12, $12.50 and $13. Cities from 2,500 to 25,000 all wages shall be increased 20 per cent as of June 1, 1933, provided the increase does not bring the wage to more than $11 or less than $10.

Price Increase Limitations

No retailer shall increase the price of any merchandise sold after this code becomes effective over the price existing on June 1, 1933, by more than is made necessary by increases in cost of production, operating, replacement, etc., and costs made necessary by taxes resulting from the NRA and the Agricultural Adjustment Act. The National Retail Trade Council is constituted an agency to supervise the prices of goods contracted prior to June 16, 1933.

Loss Limitations

The practice of selling an article of merchandise below cost, a loss leader" to attract trade and the shifting of loss to other articles is hereby prohibited.

Trade Practices

No retailer shall use advertising of any description which misrepresents the origin and character of the merchandise advertised and misleads the customer. Inaccurate reference to a competitor's merchandise is banned. Inaccurate claims to underselling a competitor are prohibited. Secret giving of a value to an employe or agent of a customer to influence a sale and the rendering of an inaccurate bill or statement is prohibited. No obstacles shall be placed before the customer who orders merchandise by brand name by offering a substitute product. NRA labels must be on all merchandise manufactured under provisions of the fair practices code.

Prison-Made Goods

This provision is delayed 90 days pending the formation of a compact between the states of the union to insure the manufacture and sale of prison made goods under the fair practices codes. In the meanwhile every case of purchase of price made goods must satisfy the administrator that the merchandise was manufactured under conditions similar to those prevailing in that industry.

The retail trade authority shall consist of the administrator or his deputy and three members appointed by the President who shall be members, without vote of the National Retail Trade Council. The council shall consist of at least one, but not more than three representatives from each major division of the retail code.

INDICTED

"Cure That Cold!" Warns Ohio Health Service Chief

Associated Press

[illegible] Oct 24—Early [illegible] time for colds." [illegible] a cold is lay- [illegible] the road to the [illegible] Dr. H. G. South- [illegible] director.

[illegible] deadly in its every [illegible] counted, "whether [illegible] cold in the head [illegible] bronchial irritation [illegible] the infection of the [illegible] it is most dead- [illegible] no cold at all, but [illegible] of any of a half- [illegible] diseases, such as scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria, whooping cough or poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) all of which in their preliminary symptoms wear the apparently innocent mask of 'just a cold.'

"Fully 90 per cent of all colds are transmitted from one person to another. For the individual the surest prevention is to keep in the best possible physical condition, which means with good powers of resistance, and to avoid every one with the slightest appearance of having a cold.

"This may mean personal inconvenience and the denial of some pleasures; but it will pay large dividends in personal health.

"For the public the surest prevention is for every one who has a cold to go to bed and stay there until it is cured, to receive no visitors, not be guilty of transmitting a possibly deadly infection."

Lack of fresh air and sunshine, loss of sleep, over fatigue, or living in overheated rooms cause the development of dormant cold germs in systems of many people. Insufficient, improper or excessive food or clothing may be contributing factors.

"DOUBLE HARNESS" STARS ANN HARDING; ON PALACE BILL

A man may be tricked into marriage but it takes more than tricks to hold him when he discovers the dupe one learns in the play "Double Harness" which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday on the Palace screen.

Ann Harding and William Powell are co-starred in this comedy-drama of a strange marriage between two sophisticates. Lilian Bond, Henry Stephenson, George Meeker, Lucile Brown and Reginald Owen are in support.

BIG CAST IN MARION SHOW

Randolph Scott, Jack LaRue, Esther Ralston, Buster Crabbe and Noah Beery play the leading roles in "To the Last Man" which will be shown at the Marion four days, beginning Wednesday. The picture was made from the Zane Grey story of the same name. This picture is Miss Ralston's first in American after a three years absence in which she worked in foreign studios. "Rome Express" was her most successful foreign picture exhibited in the United States.

"HYPNOTIZED" AT STATE

Many New Books Added To Shelves at City Library

New books listed among autumn's best sellers together with a number of earlier favorites have been placed in circulation at the Marion public library. The list also includes a wide selection of adult study books together with an interesting group of story and study books for juvenile readers.

The fiction list includes Bess Streeter Aldrich's new book, "Miss Bishop," a character portrayal, full of the pathos and to some, tragedy, of the life of a woman whose life was made up of caring for others; the international fiction prize story "No Second Spring," Janet Beith, a quiet story of a small village in northern Scotland where a young clergyman takes his family to his new parish and the crisis his wife faces in her own life; Mantle's selection of the best plays of 1932-33; "Anne Sullivan Macy," the story behind Helen Keller, Braddy; "The Farm," Louis Bromfield; de la Roche's "The Master of Jalna," Galsworthy's "One More River," Van Dine's "The Dragon Murder Case," Walpole's "Vanessa," Young's "Let's Start Over Again," and "Life Begins at Forty," Pitkin.

Jalna Is Master

A little older but just as full of family pride and prone to bickering as in the earlier "Jalna" stories is "The Master of Jalna." Renny is now the master of Jalna and his administration has all the fascination which previous stories have inspired.

Walpole's "Vanessa" is the fourth chronicle of the Herries family from Judith Paris' 100th birthday celebration in 1874 to the present, and centers around the passion of beautiful Vanessa Paris for the inconstant and almost rascally "Benjie" Herries who succeeds in making a thorough mess of their emotional lives.

Non-fiction volumes added include "My Automobile, Its Operation, Care and Repair," Blanchard; "Economic History of the American People," Bogart; "Men Against Death," DeKruif; "The Making of American Literature," Dickinson; "Understanding the Arts," Gardner; "Old English Ballads," Gummere; "A Guide to Modern Thought," Joad; "A Short History of the American Drama," Mayorga; "Still More Toasts," Muller; "One Act Plays for Stage and Study"; "Contemporary Speeches," O'Neill; "Principles of Pattern and Foundry Practice," Richards; "Our Times," Volume 4, Sullivan; "Essentials of [illegible]," Timbie; "American Poetry from the Beginning to Whitman," Untermeyer.

Juvenile List

The juvenile list includes "Data Circle of [illegible]," Armer; "Waterless Mountain," Armer; "The Hurdy-Gurdy Man," Bianco; "Junior Outline of History," Evans; "Calico Bush," Field; "A Child's History of Art," Hillyer and Huey; "Dr. Doolittle's Return," Lofting; "Boy Scouts Year Book," Mathiews; "Boys Life of Jefferson," Nicolay; "The Norwegian Twins," Perkins; "Swords of Steel," Singmaster.

MESSIAH CONCE[illegible] DIRECTORS NAMED

T. R. Evans of Marion, and His Father of Lima To Be in Charge.

T. R. Evans, in charge of music in the Marion public schools, has been named conductor, and his father, Mark Evans of Lima, guest conductor of "The Messiah," Handel, which the Marion concert association will present Dec. 18.

Committees in addition to the general committee, Earl Ruhlman, chairman, Mrs. Karl W. Schell and Hamer Mitchell, have been named and are at work.

Rehearsals will begin Nov. 16, the place to be announced later. The association, through the president, W. F. Orcutt, has issued a general invitation to those who took part in the Christmas presentation last year to participate again. The oratorio will be given by the Marion Lecture-Recital club, Canto club and Marion Civic orchestra, members of the Concert association, Mother Singer choruses and church choruses of the city, in addition to those from the city and county who wish to take part again.

Alf Horn who has assumed the business managership of the Marion Civic orchestra, has been named to take charge of program solicitations. Harry L. Albrecht has been named music librarian and Ray Acker, Harold Bradt and Mrs. T. R. Evans have been selected to secure and decorate a church for the presentation. F. H. LeMasters has been named chairman of ushers.

Mr. Evans will serve as chairman of a committee to select soloists. The general committee has recommended that if possible, only Marion soloists take part.

PLAYS HALF GAME WITH BROKEN ARM

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Oct. 24—An X-ray examination Monday showed that Kent Jennings Jr., fullback on the Mt. Gilead High school eleven, had played through an entire half Friday with a fractured left arm. The fracture, near the wrist, will keep Jennings out the remainder of the season, physicians said. He was injured near the end of the first half of the Fredericktown game here last Friday and not knowing that the bone was broken had his arm bandaged at the half. In spite of the injury his defensive efforts won the admiration of the spectators. Mt. Gilead won the game 13 to 6.

THINGS COME YOUR WAY WHEN YOU Feel Fine!

HEALTH—Life's no fun when you're only half-awake. If you really want to feel fine, sweep away the poisons and wastes—and your clean, poison-free blood will give you a new pep and brightness. Keep internally clean with Sal Hepatica.

BEAUTY—Bright eyes, a clear, fresh skin, come naturally when you are internally clean! You have sparkle, charm—you are no longer a person half-awake. Start taking Sal Hepatica now! Note: Sal Hepatica is a great help in the reducing diet.

Clear the Poisons from Your Body—Take Sal Hepatica—and Watch Life Brighten Up!

WHEN you feel "low"—half-sick, grouchy, half-alive—nothing goes right! Life is just one drab day after another, and other people have all the fun!

When you feel like that, it's time for Sal Hepatica. It's time to get rid of the poisons and wastes that are clogging your system. Until you're internally clean, you won't know what it is to feel sparkling and healthy.

Instead of envying other people their joy in living, buy a bottle of Sal Hepatica. Tomorrow morning stir a teaspoonful or so of Sal Hepatica into a big glass of water, and drink down the sparkling mixture!

In half an hour, the poisons have been flushed from your system. You feel fine!

Don't think that Sal Hepatica is "just a laxative." Sal Hepatica offers the same benefits as do the European health springs. And doctors recommend the saline treatment for patients who are run-down, half-sick.

Sal Hepatica does far more than any ordinary laxative can do! It clears the bloodstream of poisons! It tones up the system. It gets at the causes of colds, digestive disorders, headaches, rheumatism, skin blemishes.

MAIN RETAIL CODE POINTS

Wage Requirements, Working Hours, Are Summarized in Report.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—A summary of the main points of the retail code's provisions as signed by President Roosevelt, follows:

Collective Bargaining

Employes shall have the right to bargain collectively through organizations of their own choosing and maximum hours of labor and minimum rates of pay shall comply with conditions prescribed by the President.

Child Labor

No person under 16 shall be employed except those of 14 and 15 between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. which do not conflict with the school hours of the employe. No person under 16 shall be employed to make deliveries of merchandise from a motor vehicle.

Working Hours

A — Establishment remaining open less than 56 hours a week but not less than 52 hours shall not work its employes more than 40 hours a week, eight hours a day or more than six days a week.

B — Establishment remaining open 56 hours a week but not more than 63 hours shall not work its employes more than 44 hours a week, nine hours a day, nor more than six days a week.

C — Establishments remaining open more than 63 hours a week shall not work their employes more than 48 houre a week, ten hours a day, nor more than six days a week.

These provisions do not apply to those in the executive categories, professional persons, outside salesmen, collectors, watchmen, guards and store detectives.

At Christmas and inventory periods employes in the above three classes may be called on to work not in excess of an additional eight hours weekly without the payment of overtime.

Wages

In cities of 500,000 or over: 40-hour week, $14; 44-hour week, $14.50; 48-hour week, $15. Cities 100,000 to 500,000: $13, $13.50 and $14, respectively. Cities 25,000 to 100,00: $12, $12.50 and $13. Cities from 2,500 to 25,000 all wages shall be increased 20 per cent as of June 1, 1933, provided the increase does not bring the wage to more than $11 or less than $10.

Price Increase Limitations

No retailer shall increase the price of any merchandise sold after this code becomes effective over the price existing on June 1, 1933, by more than is made necessary by increases in cost of production, operating, replacement, etc., and costs made necessary by taxes resulting from the NRA and the Agricultural Adjustment Act. The National Retail Trade Council is constituted an agency to supervise the prices of goods contracted prior to June 16, 1933.

Loss Limitations

The practice of selling an article of merchandise below cost, "a loss leader" to attract trade and the shifting of loss to other articles is hereby prohibited.

Trade Practices

No retailer shall use advertising of any description which misrepresents the origin and character of the merchandise advertised and misleads the customer. Inaccurate reference to a competitor's merchandise is banned. Inaccurate claims to underselling a competitor are prohibited. Secret giving of a value to an employe or agent of a customer to influence a sale and the rendering of an inaccurate bill or statement is prohibited. No obstacles shall be placed before the customer who orders merchandise by brand name by offering a substitute product. NRA labels must be on all merchandise manufactured under provisions of the fair practices code.

Prison-Made Goods

This provision is delayed 90 days pending the formation of a compact between the states of the union to insure the manufacture and sale of prison made goods under the fair practices codes. In the meanwhile every case of purchase of price made goods must satisfy the administrator that the merchandise was manufactured under conditions similar to those prevailing in that industry.

The retail trade authority shall consist of the administrator or his deputy and three members appointed by the President who shall be members, without vote of the National Retail Trade Council. The council shall consist of at least one, but not more than three representatives from each major division of the retail code.

INDICTED

HARDING HIGH BAND TO SPONSOR PICTURE

The Harding High school band will sponsor the picture "Saturday's Millions" which will be shown Friday [illegible] Evans, supervisor of music in the public schools, said yesterday.

Ernie Nevers

All band members have tickets and tickets also have been placed on sale at the junior high schools. The band will benefit only from those tickets sold by its members. The band will lead a pep meeting and play a short concert in the intermission between shows Friday night.

Ernie Nevers and Eddy Pinckert are among the All American football stars who are in the picture. The leading roles are taken by Robert Young, Leila Hyams, Johnny Mack Brown and Andy Devine, with Lucille Lund, recently titled "The All American Girl" in a contest conducted by a leading magazine and the studio responsible for "Saturday's Millions" in the role of a society reporter. Grant Mitchell and Mary Carlisle have prominent roles.

The story from which the picture was made appeared not so long ago in a weekly publication. Lucian Cary was the author.

LA RUE BAPTISTS AT MASQUERADE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Freshour of west of LaRue gave a Hallowe'en masquerade party Friday night for members of the LaRue Baptist church. The home was decorated in keeping with the season. Costume prizes were awarded Miss Clara Miller and J. W. Freshour. Mrs. Lee Wedertz won a guessing contest. The time was spent with games, contests and music. Refreshments were served to more than 30, including Misses Lucille and Beulah Freshour of Marion and Miss Isobel Gamble of Morral.

scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria, whooping cough or poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) all of which in their preliminary symptoms wear the apparently innocent mask of 'just a cold.'

"Fully 90 per cent of all colds are transmitted from one person to another. For the individual the surest prevention is to keep in the best possible physical condition, which means with good powers of resistance, and to avoid every one with the slightest appearance of having a cold.

"This may mean personal inconvenience and the denial of some pleasures, but it will pay large dividends in personal health.

"For the public the surest prevention is for every one who has a cold to go to bed and stay there until it is cured, to receive no visitors, not be guilty of transmitting a possibly deadly infection."

Lack of fresh air and sunshine, loss of sleep, over fatigue, or living in overheated rooms cause the development of dormant cold germs in systems of many people. Insufficient, improper or excessive food or clothing may be contributing factors.

"DOUBLE HARNESS" STARS ANN HARDING; ON PALACE BILL

A man may be tricked into marriage but it takes more than tricks to hold him when he discovers the [illegible] one learns in the play "Double Harness" which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday on the Palace screen.

Ann Harding and William Powell are co-starred in this comedy-drama of a strange marriage between two sophisticates. Lilian Bond, Henry Stephenson, George Meeker, Lucile Brown and Reginald Owen are in support.

"HYPNOTIZED" AT STATE

It's rather uproarious is "Hypnotized" the Moran and Mack comedy which opened today at the State. The picture will be shown through Wednesday. A good cast, the late Ernest Torrence, Maria Alba, Wallace Ford, Marjorie Beebe, Charlie Murray, Alexander Carr and Matt McHugh support the "Two Black Crows" in this Mack Sennett picture. The comedy is based on the adventures of a circus elephant trainer and his colored helper who are easy marks for a hypnotist.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR CAREY WOMAN

Special to The Star

CAREY, Oct 24—The funeral of Mrs John Barnett, 50, of one mile northwest of here who suffered a heart attack Sunday at church, was conducted today at 1 p. m. at the Pentecostal church. Mrs Barnett died a few hours after the attack at the home of her son Clay Risner of west of here. She leaves her second husband, John Barnett, five children by a former marriage, Ernest and William of here, Clay at whose home she died, Mrs. May Risener and Mrs Carrie Stone of Willard and five children by the second marriage, Mrs O Fletcher of Willard and Basil Lester, Russell and Junior at home. Burial was made in the Spring Grove cemetery.

KEEPS YOUNG

Mrs. M. Eckberg, of 1736 E. 238th Street, knows that reducing household drudgery is one way to keep young. She shortens cleaning hours by using Gold Dust. "It's simply amazing how quickly and easily Gold Dust does all my cleaning. No more special cleaners for me. They cost too much—especially now that I can buy Gold Dust in the new double-size package for only five cents." Advt.

Many New Books Added To Shelves at City Library

New books listed among autumn's best sellers together with a number of earlier favorites have been placed in circulation at the Marion public library. The list also includes a wide selection of adult study books together with an interesting group of story and study books for juvenile readers.

The fiction list includes Bess Streeter Aldrich's new book "Miss Bishop," a character portrayal, full of the pathos and to some, tragedy, of the life of a woman whose life was made up of caring for others; the international fiction prize story, "No Second Spring," Janet Beith, a quiet story of a small village in northern Scotland where a young clergyman takes his family to his new parish and the crisis his wife faces in her own life, Mantle's selection of the best plays of 1932-33; "Anne Sullivan Macy," the story behind Helen Keller, Braddy; "The Farm," Louis Bromfield; de la Roche's "The Master of Jalna;" Galsworthy's "One More River;" Van Dine's "The Dragon Murder Case;" Walpole's "Vanessa;" Young's "Let's Start Over Again," and "Life Begins at Forty," Pitkin.

Jalna Is Master

A little older but just as full of family pride and prone to bickering as in the earlier "Jalna" stories is "The Master of Jalna." Renny is now the master of Jalna and his administration has all the fascination which previous stories have inspired.

Walpole's "Vanessa" is the fourth chronicle of the Herries family from Judith Paris' 100th birthday celebration in 1874 to the present and centers around the passion of beautiful Vanessa Paris for the inconstant and almost rascally "Benjie" Herries who succeeds in making a thorough mess of their emotional lives.

Non-fiction volumes added include "My Automobile, Its Operation, Care and Repair," Blanchard; "Economic History of the American People," Bogart; "Men Against Death," DeKruif; "The Making of American Literature," Dickinson; "Understanding the Arts," Gardner; "Old English Ballads," Gummere; "A Guide to Modern Thought," Joad; "A Short History of the American Drama," Mayorga; "Still More Toasts," Mueller; "One Act Plays for Stage and Study;" "Contemporary Speeches," O'Neill; "Principles of Pattern and Foundry Practice," Richards; "Our Times, Volume 4," Sullivan; "Essentials of [illegible]," Timbie; "American Poetry from the Beginning to Whitman," Untermeyer.

Juvenile List

The juvenile list includes "Dark Circle of Branches," Armer; "Waterless Mountain," Armer; "The Hurdy Gurdy Man," Bianco; "Junior Outline of History," Evans; "Calico Bush," Field; "A Child's History of Art," Hillyer and Huey; "Dr Dolittle's Return," Lofting; "Boy Scouts Year Book," Mathiews; "Boys' Life of Jefferson," Nicolay; "The Norwegian Twins," Perkins; "Swords of Steel," Singmaster.

MESSIAH CONCERT DIRECTORS NAMED

T. R. Evans of Marion, and His Father of Lima To Be in Charge.

T. R. Evans in charge of music in the Marion public schools has been named conductor, and his father, Mark Evans of Lima, guest conductor of "The Messiah," Handel, which the Marion concert association will present Dec. 18.

Committees in addition to the general committee, Earl Ruhlman, chairman, Mrs. Karl W. Schell and Hamer Mitchell, have been named and are at work.

Rehearsals will begin Nov. 16, the place to be announced later. The association through the president, W. F. Orcutt, has issued a general invitation to those who took part in the Christmas presentation last year to participate again. The oratorio will be given by the Marion Lecture-Recital club, Canto club and Marion Civic orchestra, members of the Concert association, Mother Singer choruses and church choruses of the city in addition to those from the city and county who wish to take part again.

Alf Horn who has assumed the business managership of the Marion Civic orchestra has been named to take charge of program solicitations. Harry L. Albrecht has been named music librarian and Ray Acker, Harold Bradt and Mrs. T. R. Evans have been selected to secure and decorate a church for the presentation. F. H. LeMaster has been named chairman of ushers.

Mr. Evans will serve as chairman of a committee to select soloists. The general committee has recommended that if possible only Marion soloists take part.

PLAYS HALF GAME WITH BROKEN ARM

Special to The Star

MT GILEAD, Oct 24—An X-ray examination Monday showed that Kent Jennings Jr, fullback on the Mt Gilead High school eleven had played through an entire half Friday with a fractured left arm. The fracture, near the wrist, will keep Jennings out the remainder of the season, physicians said. He was injured near the end of the first half of the Fredericktown game here last Friday and not knowing that the bone was broken had his arm bandaged at the half. In spite of the injury his defensive efforts won the admiration of the spectators. Mt Gilead won the game, 13 to 6.

TO HOLD MEETING.

WYANDOT, Oct 24—The first quarterly meeting of the Harpster, Little Sandusky and Wyandot Methodist churches will be held in the Harpster church next Sunday night. Rev. Warren J. Dunham of Toledo district superintendent, will deliver the sermon. Special evangelistic services will begin at the Wyandot church Nov. 6 in charge of the pastor, Rev. A. E. Grant.

LEESVILLE WINS.

MT ZION, Oct. 24—The second half of the county tournament for the rural schools of Crawford county was played Saturday at Sulphur Springs. The Leesville boys' team won the championship and the Whetstone girls' ranked first.

THINGS COME YOUR WAY WHEN YOU Feel Fine!

HEALTH—Life's no fun when you're only half-awake. If you really want to feel fine, sweep away the poisons and wastes—and your clean, poison-free blood will give you a new pep and brightness. Keep internally clean with Sal Hepatica.

BEAUTY—Bright eyes, a clear, fresh skin, come naturally when you are internally clean! You have sparkle, charm—you are no longer a person half-awake. Start taking Sal Hepatica now! Note: Sal Hepatica is a great help in the reducing diet.

Clear the Poisons from Your Body—Take Sal Hepatica—and Watch Life Brighten Up!

WHEN you feel "low"—half-sick, grouchy, half-alive—nothing goes right. Life is just one drab day after another, and other people have all the fun!

When you feel like that, it's time for Sal Hepatica. It's time to get rid of the poisons and wastes that are clogging your system. Until you're internally clean, you won't know what it is to feel sparkling and healthy.

Instead of envying other people their joy in living, buy a bottle of Sal Hepatica. Tomorrow morning stir a teaspoonful or so of Sal Hepatica into a big glass of water, and drink down the sparkling mixture!

In half an hour, the poisons have been flushed from your system. You feel fine!

Don't think that Sal Hepatica is "just a laxative." Sal Hepatica offers the same benefits as do the European health springs. And doctors recommend the saline treatment for patients who are run-down, half-sick.

Sal Hepatica does far more than any ordinary laxative can do! It clears the bloodstream of poisons! It tones up the system. It gets at the causes of colds, digestive disorders, headaches, rheumatism, skin blemishes.

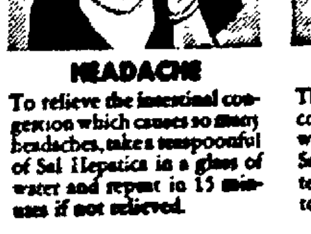
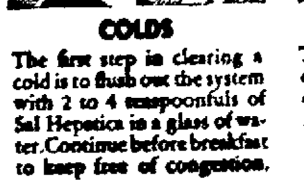
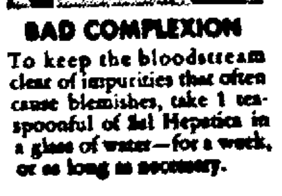
CONSTIPATION
Whenever you wake up with any symptoms of constipation—take 2 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water. Promptly, gently, the wastes will be flushed away.



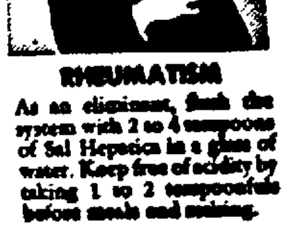
HEADACHE
To relieve the intestinal congestion which causes so many headaches, take a teaspoonful of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water and repeat in 15 minutes if not relieved.



COLDS
The first step in clearing a cold is to flush out the system with 2 to 4 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water. Continue before breakfast to keep free of congestion.



BAD COMPLEXION
To keep the bloodstream clear of impurities that often cause blemishes, take 1 teaspoonful of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water—for a week, or as long as necessary.



RHEUMATISM
As an eliminant, flush the system with 2 to 4 teaspoons of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water. Keep free of acidity by taking 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls before meals and retiring.

Music of the Orient On Lecture-Recital Program

MUSIC of the Orient grouped into one program and presented by a trio composed of [illegible] singer members of the Marion Lecture-Recital club assisted by Newman Browarsky, guest [illegible], provided an entertaining and colorful recital last night at the meeting of the club members and patrons at Hotel Harding. The program, the first to be given this season by members of the club, was well attended. The season opened two weeks ago with a guest artist program.

Pottery, screens of gold cloth and scarves in Oriental hues decorated the stage and formed a charming setting for the brilliant costumes worn by the entertainers. Vocal numbers were presented by Miss Virginia Fowler and Miss Bernita LeMasters and Miss Kathryn Schneider presented the piano groups. Miss Schneider also played the accompaniments for the vocal groups. Mrs. John Lacey, pianist, played the accompaniment for Mr. Browarsky's number.

Discusses Music Events

Preceding the program Miss Doris Gump gave interesting items of the musical world in "Current Events." Mrs. George Kleinmaier presided as reader and provided a background for each group in a short history of the music of each of the countries, preceding their presentation.

Miss LeMasters opened the program with an interpretation of the music of Egypt, singing "The Nile," Leroux. Her selection was followed by Mr. Browarsky who played a traditional Hebrew number, "Kol Nidrei," Bruch's arrangement of an ancient religious theme. He responded to an encore with another Hebrew melody similar in theme, which he played unaccompanied.

Music of East India was presented by Miss Fowler in her group of three numbers "Lo! 'Tis the Hour" and "Ganges Boat Song" from the song cycle, "In a Brahmin Garden," Logan, and "Hindoo Song," Bemberg. Japanese music was brought to the audience by Miss LeMasters in "A Japanese Fantasy," Terry, "Japanese Lullaby," Coryell, and "A Japanese Love Song," Brahe.

Chinese Numbers

Miss Schneider played two piano numbers in the concluding group which interpreted the music of China. They were "Pell Street," a portrayal of Chinatown in New York arranged by Whitehorn and "Rush Hour in Hong Kong," by Chasins. Completing this part of the program was two vocal numbers, "Chinese Flower," Bowers and "Absence," by Rogers, sung by Miss Fowler.

Miss Lois Snodgrass was chairman for the program.

Miss Grace Kline, president of the club announced the choral concert to be given by the club Nov. 13 at Hotel Harding and Mrs. V. H. Barnhill announced the series of book reviews to be given by Mrs. Depew Head of Columbus during the winter under the auspices of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs.

[illegible] torch, pulled out [illegible] and struck a [illegible] just going to light [illegible] the mantlepiece, [illegible] into the room. I [illegible] waited, but the heavy [illegible] the better of me [illegible] something so damned [illegible] way he struck

[illegible] laugh. "I said, [illegible] thing are you doing [illegible] dropped the match, [illegible] charged right [illegible] of me, and banged [illegible] face before I got [illegible] It makes me sound [illegible] he was uncommon [illegible] trying to get hold [illegible] I'd seen his face." [illegible] when he struck the [illegible] his back to me. The [illegible] take half a minute [illegible] into the room, [illegible] match and butted [illegible] seen him."

[illegible] want?" said Caroline.

[illegible] know—" There was a [illegible] a movement as if [illegible] thing off. "He may [illegible] burglar—or just a common [illegible] tramp."

[illegible] Caroline. Why did he [illegible]?" She came a little [illegible] what's the matter?"

* * *

H[illegible] in a puzzled [illegible]

[illegible] about this room—it's [illegible] back to me."

[illegible] anything odd about [illegible] shouldn't you dream [illegible] often dream about [illegible]"

[illegible] something odd about [illegible] room, with five windows [illegible] that's the way I [illegible] it. Why? We've always [illegible] the Blue Room. Why [illegible] dream of it like that? I [illegible] frown deepened—"why [illegible] make up a perfectly new [illegible] of it and dream of [illegible]"

[illegible] know," said Caroline. "You can do anything in a dream—they're quite mad." She slipped her hand through his arm. "Jim, I've got simply heaps to tell you."

Her eyes were as eager as a child's. The things that she wanted to tell Jim crowded together in her mind, jostling and pushing one another for first place. The last comer had it.

"Jim, I've been to London," she said, and pinched his arm quite hard.

"What for?"

"To see whether it was you who signed that old register. I thought if I went and looked we should know."

He had a moment of sickening suspense. He said, "Well?" quietly enough.

"I know it wasn't you—but—"

"But what?" There was the giddy feeling of being uncertain where the next step was to take him.

"It wasn't a proper signature—just a sort of higgledy-piggledy printing. And the clerk remembered that it was because Jim Riddell had his right arm in a sling."

The feeling of giddiness increased.

"But you haven't had anything wrong with your arm, Jim. You haven't—have you? And that proves that it wasn't you."

* * *

HE was looking across at the shuttered window opposite—the narrow window with the blue curtains, the window that was like a slit. He was silent. She was getting frightened, when he said,

"I'm afraid that doesn't prove anything. A crook might have very good reasons for not giving away a specimen of his handwriting. You didn't get hold of any one who could describe him?"

"I tried," said Caroline. "I did try, Jim. But the woman at the address he gave said she never took men lodgers, so he must have given a false address. Then I tried Nesta Williams' place. Her landlady was terribly chatty and all that, but as she never set eyes on Nesta's young man it wasn't much good."

Jim sat leaning forward on the bed, his elbows on his knees and rather a blank look on his face. It was as if he had put up his shutters and behind them was setting out Caroline's puzzle pieces. They fitted into the bits that Nesta had given him and the bits which he himself had been able to produce.

Up to the time of his landing his memory was perfectly clear. There was a six weeks' gap. The pieces fitted into the gap. He had landed on the first of July. He might have married Nesta Williams on the twenty-fifth.

If between the first and the twenty-fifth he had run off the rails and conceived the crazy idea of robbing Elmer Van Berg he would probably have taken steps to cover his tracks. Why, even if crazy, he should have married Nesta Williams was beyond him. He reckoned it as a form of suicidal mania and left it at that.

"I've got heaps more to tell you, Jim," said Caroline. She began to pour out the story of her interview with Mrs. Rodgers. "I didn't know that I was going to follow her, but when she got out of the train, something just yanked me out of my seat and pushed me on to the platform, and the next thing I knew, we were climbing Meade hill practically hand in hand, and I was imploring her to tell me all."

"What did she tell you?"

WIVES—AND OTHER WOMEN

Every man should let the wife or the girl-friend select his stenographer for him; then he'd be sure of getting somebody who would never take his mind off his business.

* * *

Divorce is the legal separation of two people who are anxious to go on being good friends or to return their romance for each other.

* * *

A woman never realizes what sales-resistance means, until she finds herself wandering through the millinery department of a shop where she has a charge account.

* * *

You can never be sure of a woman's name, these days. By the time you can remember the spelling and initials, she has married again and you have to start memorizing the new one.

* * *

Somehow, a man can always manage to conquer his love for a woman—if he tries; it's his temporary infatuation for some little dumb bell that he can't shake off, until he has landed at the altar or gone over the deep end.

* * *

You can get a divorce in Uruguay, says Walter Winchell, just by asking for it three times. But what woman really wants a divorce, until she has asked for it at least seven or eight times? Before that, she is merely bluffing.

* * *

To be attractive makes a woman talked about—and to be talked about makes her more attractive. Which is the secret of how some very mediocre women have come to be known as "famous man-charmers."

* * *

It takes a man a little while to come out of his daze when he realizes that he has just been "accepted" by a girl who proposed to him.

* * *

The man who is in love with himself is the only one who never seems to have a change of heart.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Hugh Remains at the Hospital as Guard for Dicky.

KATHERINE was the first to speak after Dicky's petulant outburst that we would better all "beat it and get some sleep." The young surgeon was nowhere in evidence, and I conjectured that he discreetly had vanished as soon as he had given Dicky the unwelcome information that nothing more could be done about his arm until morning.

"There's no one with real authority here now," she said, "and besides, it really isn't the wisest thing to loosen those bandages before morning. As for 'beating it,' Dicky-bird, I beg to inform you that, whether you like it or not, I perch right upon this roost with you until you go back home."

"What about the children?" Dicky asked, a bit uneasily.

Her reply was prompt.

"Lillian has 'em, and that's answer enough for anybody. Besides, unless Madge wants to charter a separate room, she might as well go home to them. She'd have to sit up all night here."

"Nothing doing on that," Dicky said, so emphatically that my heart warmed deliciously to his care of me. "Hugh will take you and the chief home, won't you, old chap?"

Hugh's Plan to Stay

He had managed to get the words out in friendly fashion but I, who know his every inflection, read his distaste for his own proposal in his voice.

"But I have planned to stay here with you," Hugh said.

"Why, in heaven's name?" Dicky countered startled.

My father stepped into the breach.

"There is a very good reason for his staying here," he said, "one which I haven't time to tell you now. I am sure, however, that you will take my word that it is a necessary proceeding. I also think it best, as you have said, that Margaret go home to the children. I will drive her back in your car, Hugh, if you will trust me with it."

We all smiled, for my father's penchant for 'demon driving' is well known to all of us.

"I'll turn it over to you with trust and faith and prayers," Hugh told him and we all laughed as people will in relief from nervous tension.

"I haven't the slightest idea what all the shooting's for," Dicky said a bit petulantly, "any more than I have why that beggar should have endeavored to put me to sleep tonight. But as there's nothing else to do now except to sit on a tack until morning, I'd better proceed to that pastime, I suppose."

"You'll go to sleep pretty soon," Katherine prophesied, "and the night will be gone before you know it."

Dicky's Goodnight

"You've mistaken your vocation," Dicky gibed. "You ought to be bedtime story teller over the radio. You have just the right touch. And, of course, knowing your little ways, I'm next to the reason why I'm going to sleep until morning doth appear. Nice pretty little knockout drops in my glass of bedtime hot milk—that's how the Dicky-bird will stick his head under his wing."

"Well! Why not?" Katherine asked unabashed. "My particular brand of knockout drops never hurt anybody, and the one resolution before this house which is not going to be tabled is the one about getting you to sleep. So chirp good night to your audience prettily, Dicky-bird, for I'm going to shoo everybody out of here pronto."

"Good night, Richard," my father said quickly and left the room, instantly followed by Hugh Grantland, who murmured something about seeing him later. Katherine walked to the window, and Dicky gathered me close with his uninjured arm.

"I'm the most jealous person in captivity," Dicky said with his lips close to my ear, "but I can't help being glad you're going home with your dad by yourself."

I turned my face and put my lips to his ear.

"Shall I tell you a secret?" I whispered.

"Please."

"I'm glad too," I told him truthfully, and promptly received full payment for the assurance in the fevered kiss and embrace he gave me.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, Oct. 25

THE PLANETARY configurations bearing rule on this day point to lively conditions although not fortunate for those in employment. There is a sign of disruption and commotion abruptly precipitated, bringing change of environment and interests, this calling for sagacity and precaution, especially in dealing with strangers or with secret societies, combines or rings.

Those whose birthday it is may find a year of quite unexpected change, with new environment and interests. Be cautious with strangers and be alert as to trickery, fraud and misrepresentation in dealing with large corporations, rings, or secret bodies.

A child born on this day may be lively, witty, restless and unsettled. It may make a fair success as a writer of unusual subjects.

NEW YORK — Five poodles guarded the body of Mrs. Myrtle Hoag, once well-to-do, who died in poverty in a tiny flat. The dogs had to be dragged away before an ambulance crew could remove the body yesterday. Mrs. Hoag was said to be the widow of a former city official.

DEPOSITORS URGED TO PROTECT RIGHTS

Loan Official Gives Advice for Use Before Disposing of Holdings.

Stockholders and depositors in Marion building and loan companies were urged today by R. R. Prichard, secretary of the Marion Building, Savings & Loan Co., to be certain their rights are protected before entering into any agreement to dispose of building and loan company stock.

He said his statement is based on several recent instances in which depositors and stockholders had entered into unsatisfactory agreements to dispose of their holdings.

Before disposing of stock, persons should consult either an attorney or a person in position to know whether the terms of the transaction will be satisfactory, Mr. Prichard said.

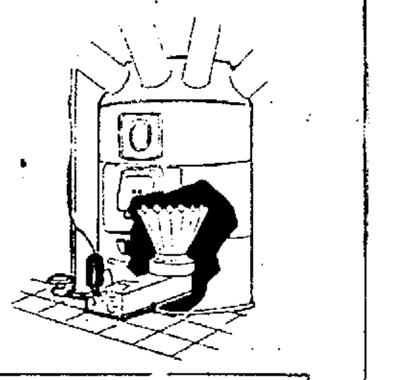
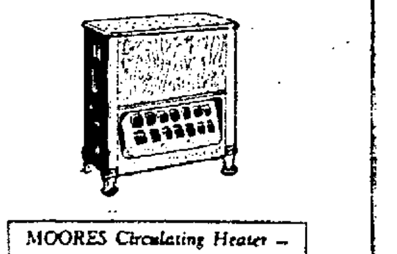
Get the Facts! Our Engineers Will Furnish Reliable Information On Your Heating Problems—Without Charge

Which Uses of Gas Best Suit Your Heating Needs?

Heating engineers have found that gas excels in every point on which a fuel is graded. Also, they find that it costs no more than other methods of heating, all costs considered. What, then, are the uses of gas heat which best suit your needs?



JANITROL — a complete gas-fired unit fits your present furnace



MOORES Circulating Heater — warmth for one or several rooms

HUMPHREY Radiant Heater—quick, cheerful heat where you need it

Automatically-Controlled Gas Heat From Your Present Furnace

There is no need to feel "tied down" to your investment in an old-styled furnace. Install Janitrol — the gas-fired, automatically-controlled heating unit — and enjoy the full advantages of a gas furnace. It will mean a clean home, even temperatures and no furnace tending in the future. Attractive terms will fit your budget.

Gas Circulating Heater

Perhaps your home has no basement for a central heating plant, or you may have a room or two that are not reached by the furnace. A Moore's gas circulating heater provides a plentiful amount of clean heat, economically, for one or several rooms. Priced from $37.50. Convenient payments, if desired.

Gas Radiant Heaters

For quick, cheerful heat on cool mornings and evenings, on damp days or as a booster to your furnace in exceptionally cold weather — nothing will take the place of gas radiant heaters. No doubt you will want them for several rooms so that you can have heat where you want it — when you want it.

Now for the Opposition.

It would be foolhardy to ignore opposition to formal recognition of Russia by the government of the United States. That opposition has made its position clear in the last 16 years. President Roosevelt's cordial invitation to the Russian government to open conversations looking to recognition will open the draft on many smoldering fires.

There exists a real necessity for both schools of thought to temper passion with cold logic, for it is on the latter that recognition would be based. Old grudges, differences of opinion on political methods and fear of the principles of communism inevitably will influence thinking, but the act of recognition would be the result of another consideration.

Russia is a market for American products. Its plan of reconstruction calls for large purchases of machinery which this country is equipped to produce. It will buy that machinery some place in the world. Even without the advantage of formal recognition by the United States, it has been buying much of it here. Recognition will increase its purchases.

To buy, Russia will have to sell. Its price is the privilege of selling its products, most of them raw materials, in the American market. Herein lies the toughest problem of recognition. American labor will resent intrusion of a competitor whose treatment of labor it condemns bitterly. American producers will be unwilling to compete with Russian producers.

The next most formidable obstacle would seem to be credit. Russia does not have cash to use for its purchases. It expects to use long-term credit and whatever trade balance it can establish by selling in the American market. When President Roosevelt negotiates with Russia's representatives it will be problems like these that will be discussed.

Invitation to negotiate does not mean recognition. Opposition views will not be ignored. The delicacy of the thing proposed insures caution. It would be most unfortunate, however, if after so many years negotiations were to be confused unduly by insistence on things which have no proper place in the discussions.

Simplifying Elections.

An interesting demonstration of the straw ballot is being presented in New York City's hotly contested campaign for mayor. Once more it is evident that a dependable pre-election poll has a direct effect on official balloting.

The straw vote is being taken by the Literary Digest, whose record for accuracy in national elections has removed most of the guesswork about victors and losers. Although the magazine's analysts refuse to commit themselves any further than the apparent conclusion to be drawn from returns, it would be difficult to say that the poll should not be taken seriously by candidates and their supporters.

The third tabulation shows the Fusion candidate, LaGuardia, leading McKee and O'Brien, Recovery and Tammany candidates, respectively. More than 280,000 votes have been cast, with LaGuardia getting 48.52 per cent, McKee 36.35 per cent and O'Brien only 12.42 per cent. It is largely because of the extremely small vote for O'Brien that analysts refuse to draw conclusions at this point in the tabulation.

Agreement with the principle of straw balloting is far from universal. Many claim it undermines the elective system, encouraging voters to go with the crowd rather than their own convictions. Certainly it constitutes a discouragement for adherents of candidates running far behind. Some of them, rather than voting their convictions, switch to the strong candidate to be on the bandwagon.

On the other hand, straw balloting, by revealing the progress of campaigns, may be said to make elections more logical. Undeniably, the best man often is the one who can enlist the most support. Attitudes influence votes. The individual voter, not knowing what others think and deceived by ballyhoo, can consult straw ballot tabulations to correct his position. Supporters of the strong candidate are given confirmation for their stand; supporters of the weak candidate are warned in advance of voting day that the majority is against them.

It is a record of exceptional friendliness and cordiality that were unmistakably sincere, an attitude of fairness and honesty in all his human contacts, and a keen and active mind which equipped him admirably for service in both public and private life.

John Wiedemann will long be remembered for these and other fine qualities of character and ability. Most men, although given twice the number of years allotted to him, fall considerably short of his achievement.

Road Beds.

A comprehensive statement of the railroads' viewpoint on the problem of trucks and busses was made last Friday by J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. Mr. Pelley spoke before the Interstate Bus and Truck conference, organized this year by the American Legislators association to consider the desirability of framing uniform regulations relating to sizes and weights of commercial highway vehicles.

The real question, the speaker declared, is how much commercial highway transportation the county's taxpayers can afford to support. Opposition by railroads to a form of competition whose value they recognize is, in the final analysis, opposition by taxpayers with proprietary interest in the public highways. The railroads' arguments would be futile without strong support from a public whose highway facilities are being used as road beds by commercial vehicles.

If the matter be resolved into a question of public taxation, which is the basis truck and bus interests have been using, Mr. Pelley offers these facts: railroads, the nation's principal taxpayers, paid to 17 states containing more than half the country's population $175,000,000 in 1930. Twelve per cent of this money was spent for highway purposes. Generally speaking, trucks and busses, accounting for 36 per cent of the total highway use, contribute 12 per cent of the total motor vehicle fees and gasoline taxes collected. They represent probably not more than 3 per cent of the total number of motor vehicles, yet because of their extraordinary demands on highway facilities it is necessary to build roads for their accommodation far beyond the needs of the remaining 97 per cent of vehicles.

Mr. Pelley's conclusion, summarized, is this. There is a place for motor trucks and busses, but they should stop trying to do the things that railroads are equipped to do and can do better and cheaper when public convenience and taxation are taken into consideration. The size of commercial vehicles should be reduced to limits which will be determined from the standpoint of public convenience and necessity.

Predetermined Policy.

New material is presented for the discussion of federal paternalism by activities of administration officials toward preparation of a permanent welfare program. Indications point to the probability that the program will entail continuation of policies adopted for the current emergency.

Thus, responsibility for unemployment relief would continue to rest on the federal government. To many Americans this seems logical enough at present, but they must remember that until the last year of the Hoover administration direct grants of federal funds for this purpose were opposed vigorously.

Ultimately, there would develop from a conception of federal responsibility programs dealing with all classifications of welfare effort. Unemployment insurance, old age pensions and child welfare assuredly would fit into the plan. These responsibilities, nominally belonging to the states, would be exercised by the federal government.

In the large view, it is a question of capability to perform these functions that will determine whether the federal government or the state governments will accept them. It may be true, as more critics declare, that politicians are eager to establish a system of paternalism. If it be true it must be true, also, that politicians have their [illegible] tive ears to the ground.

Federal paternalism will not be [illegible] Americans unless they are willing [illegible] it. It will not be foisted on [illegible] various states perform efficiently [illegible] services which are being planned [illegible] Roosevelt administration. It seems significant, however, that officials of an administration whose extensive and costly welfare efforts are justified by an emergency should be engaged in preparation of a permanent program before there has been a general discussion of the policy to be pursued when the emergency is over. Is the collapse of state government so complete that state responsibility for welfare is considered at an end?

Behind The News In
Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—The Roosevelt administration seems to be in a pretty tight corner. It might not be fair to say its back is to the wall but some major-league batting is going to be necessary to push forward.

From the sidelines it would appear the forces of discontent and straight opposition had been mobilized in the past fortnight for a concerted smash at the Roosevelt front.

It hardly seems possible it could be pure coincidence that so many manifestations of attack on the Roosevelt recovery program should show up all in a bunch.

The farm holiday movement under Milo Reno voted a farmers' strike and on the same day Gov. Bryan and Senator Norris of Nebraska attacked federal policies while former Gov. Neville was resigning as state administrator for NRA.

Also on that same date Porf. William Fielding Ogburn of the University of Chicago, former aid to General Johnson, was telling the Indiana State Teachers' association that NRA contained too much hot air and had been lagging since the middle of July.

Here in Washington the Communists added their mite by trying to organize a demonstration of the unemployed. It wasn't successful but the thought was there.

The last time Milo Reno's followers staged a strike a bonus army was enroute to Washington and Communist demonstrations occurred in all the big centers.

This doesn't mean that the striking farmers or bonus marchers were Communist.

All the same it did look as if the Communist strategists had taken advantage of the situation to mess things up.

Rebels

The present [illegible] in the middle western farm areas is superimposed on a number of other situations already stinging the administration.

These include the steadily growing number of strikes resulting from blue eagle differences.

Emboldened by the slowing up of NRA, employers are showing more of a disposition to flout their codes and are turning their backs on such federal bodies as the national labor board.

Depositors are clamoring for money shut up in closed banks since last March. Their attempts are building a steady backfire of propaganda under the administration.

And winter is here.

Spirits

The distillers are busy working out a code of their practices after their 13 lean years. It will be submitted, not to NRA, but to the agricultural adjustment administration because of the grains used in making whisky. The first problem centers about the dealings with the farmer.

Before the distillers is the question of whether or not to agree to use none but American grains. This year, because of a shortage in the rye crop, there were fairly heavy importations from Canada.

Also the corn growers are demanding that alcohol for rectification be made from corn instead of blackstrap molasses which comes in large quantities from Cuba.

Horrors

A secondary consideration is the problem of rectification. The whisky magnates are afraid fly-by-night plants will spring up for the purpose of reckless cutting of whisky with alcohol.

Finally the distillers are puzzled whether to ship in barrels or bottles.

The barrel, it is pointed out, savors of the old saloon [illegible] against return of which [illegible] up their hands in holy terror.

Meanwhile there are signs that the distillers are headed on the route that ends in killing the well known golden-egg goose.

The recent price [illegible] importation of all foreign [illegible] the present is [illegible] the path.

Continued high prices for good whisky and the distillers' intention to keep them up right through the date of repeal are causing the government some concern.

Costs

The experience of Washington club managers in the past two weeks will serve as an example.

Representatives of the big distilleries have been soliciting them for orders against the fateful day.

Prices quoted one club with which this column is familiar ranged as-you-like-it. Seventy-one dollars including tax and freight would get you a case of aged, uncut whisky of high order. From $20 to $38 was asked for blends and cuts, plus the extras.

In the old days a bar ran on the principle of 100 per cent gross profit per drink. Out of the gross came salaries, rent, wastage, free lunch, etc.

Applying this principle to prices currently quoted, clubs and restaurants would have to charge speakeasy prices and more for their liquid wares.

Breaking the prices down to cost per drink, it formerly was estimated there were from 16 drinks per quart for clubs and higher-class establishments to 20 or 21 for the cheaper bars.

On the basis and using the theory of 100 per cent gross profit to begin with a club would have to ask 75 cents a drink for the very best whisky and from 20 to 40 cents for the blends and cuts. Excellent Canadian whisky is now available from bootleggers in New York at $48 a case. Any bottle can furnish the makings for bathtub gin a price which brings it well under a dollar a quart.

So the government is guessing. After 13 years of bootleg stuff will the public pay the high legal prices or go on patronizing Joe and Tony?

Notes

When President Roosevelt announced opening of negotiation with Soviet Russia—incidentally behind locked doors—he was most particular that the exchange of letters with the Soviet president speak for itself and that there be no mention of "recognition" in the headlines. Which causes the man in lower three to rise up and comment that when he speaks to anybody after years of studied silence he recognizes them.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—The Tories' worst fears were realized when the federal trade commission asked for details of corporate executive salaries. No other card in the New Deal has stirred such fevered indignation. The politest comment you hear is that it's none of the government's double dashed business.

Some of the smartest lawyers in the country are combing the books for evidence that the request is illegal, unconstitutional, and worse. If they find what they're looking for there will be a battle of briefs right up to the supreme court. And some of the biggest and best known corporations will carry the banner. Of course if the trade commission would promise to keep the salary information in its private files they might come across without too much argument. It's the thought of publicity that bites. But Wall Street doubts that such a concession will be made because publicity seems to be the big idea.

Whiskers

New York insiders expect the government angle to be presented to the public this way. "You (business executives) say your profits [illegible] the New Deal and [illegible] rights impaired. [illegible] too. Take [illegible] the stockholders [illegible] corporations [illegible] exercises before [illegible]. Otherwise [illegible] will be more [illegible]."

Wiggin

[illegible] Albert Wiggin's [illegible] arrangement [illegible] a faint buzz [illegible] banking circles. Wiggin in retirement gets more pay than the active heads of some other good sized banks who didn't lose their institutions nearly so much money. Other banks also point out that the creation of the pension coincided with a decision to cut the Chase payroll after it had been well sustained through the depression.

Cuba

Winthrop Aldrich said a mouthful when he intimated that details of the Chase's loans to Cuba would not make the Islanders precisely happy.

Machado took all the money that wasn't nailed down to satisfy the Chase's demands for repayment, including the salaries of most government officials except the army and police. Not only that, the teachers pension fund—half of which was contributed out of the teachers' own pockets—disappeared without a trace.

The amount of Machro's personal rakeoff on the $225,000,000 construction loans might also come to light. Boss Tweed was a tin-horn tyro by comparison. Of course that wasn't the Chase's fault but you can hardly expect the Cubans to differentiate.

Questions

The senate committee has just begun to ask questions in its efforts to find out what makes the stock market tick.

The New York banks are the latest to be favored with a questionnaire. They have been asked to give details on brokers' loans over a five-year period. Washington also wants the lowdown on what accounts were closed out for insufficient margin during those years and—what accounts were carried in spite of inadequate margins.

That last should make headlines.

The banks will provide the information as requested. They aren't picking any unnecessary arguments with Washington these days.

Regulation

The stock exchange is puzzled about the President's committee to investigate the exchange as it operates now—accent on the "now"—and recommend legislation. The committee was really named by Secretary Roper and contains a member of a leading Wall Street law firm—which would be all to the berries if this group were the only one in the recommending business.

But Wall Street ears-to-the-ground report that the senate committee is hotter than a blast furnace about this invasion of its prerogatives and intends to show its authority by putting over an exchange bill that will resemble a peevish porcupine.

The boys admit that the administration probably intended to do them a kindness by dealing with them rationally but they wish it hadn't.

Farley

Jim Farley is conspicuously absent from New York as his candidate McKee's campaign reaches a critical stage. Political insiders whisper that Mr. Farley held out patronage prospects in return for McKee's support and then was asked from Washington to lay off. They say he went away so he couldn't be asked to deliver.

Choice

Some of the Tammany lads who hurried to climb on the McKee bandwagon are quietly trying to climb off again since the bandwagon started to creak. Many others who started to jump aboard didn't. The wise eggs are no longer certain of McKee victory and if they have to lose they would rather lose regular than insurgent.

TODAY
Arthur Brisbane's News Review

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—The President's latest radio speech contains more "news," more material for hard thinking, more statements to startle old-fashioned Americans than any speech made by a President of the United States since the era of "organized money" began.

This sentence will startle [illegible]

"The edifice of recovery—the temple which, when completed, will no longer be a temple of money-changers or of beggars, but rather a temple dedicated to and maintained for a greater social justice, a greater welfare of America—the habitation of a sound economic life."

"Best minds" will shudder as they read "no longer a temple of money-changers or of beggars" and ask, in the innocence of their hearts, "When were the American people beggars? Who are the money-changers? Where is the temple from which NRA will drive them? Is it Wall street?"

The President says that among thirteen millions idle last spring "were several millions who could be classed as normally idle, people who worked occasionally, when they felt like it, others who preferred not to work at all."

That left ten millions idle, eager to work. President Roosevelt says four millions, or 40 per cent of that total, have found jobs since NRA began.

Of NRA, the President says: "It has abolished child labor. It has eliminated the sweatshop. It has ended 60 cents a week paid in some mills, and 80 cents a week paid in some mines."

What are Money and Value

Many with money in closed banks will rejoice in the President's statement that "the federal government is about to spend one billion dollars as an immediate loan on frozen or non-liquid assets of all banks closed since Jan. 1, 1933, giving a liberal appraisal to those assets. This money will be in the hands of the depositors as quickly as it is humanly possible to get it out."

The President reminds you that after Jan. 1 your deposit in the bank will be guaranteed by the government against dishonesty or stupidity up to $2,500.

Vitally important to the present and future prosperity is the President's statement on money. Everybody should read it, although not everybody will understand it. You might count on our fingers and toes all in the United States that really know anything about money, and more than 15 of them would not know much.

Controlling the Dollar

The President says:

"The United States must take firmly in its own hands the control of the gold value of our dollar."

Those as ignorant as this writer will ask: "How can you establish the gold value of our dollar when gold itself has no definite value? What makes it worth $20 an ounce or $12 an ounce except the figure stamped on a round piece of gold, or the gold values established by foreign money?"

The President undoubtedly has taken what he believes to be the soundest advice before announcing: "I am going to establish a government market for gold in the United States. Therefore, under the clearly defined authority of existing law, I am authorizing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to buy gold newly mined in the United States at prices to be determined from time to time after consultation with the secretary of the treasury and the President. Whenever necessary to the end in view we shall also buy or sell gold in the world market. My aim in taking this step is to establish and maintain continuous control.

"This is a policy, and not an expedient."

Turgot, the great French statesman, who wrote a remarkable statement on money when only 20 years old, warning against a repetition of John Laws' "Inflation," remarked that "a standard of value must have value, just as a standard of length must have length, or a standard of capacity, capacity, or a standard of weight, weight."

The Wisest Puzzled

On the other hand, you are told that without "fiat money" Lincoln could not have got through the Civil war. And common sense seems to tell you that's a lot of golden hidden away in Washington worth four thousand million dollars really can't be so very important in a nation that in prosperous times has an income of ninety thousand millions a year, not much more important than a graveyard rabbit's foot in the pocket of a superstitious negro, or a Buddha's tooth in a Buddhist temple.

Money puzzles the wisest. We can only hope that the new idea of giving the government a monopoly on the gold business will, as the French government has a monopoly of the tobacco business, may turn out well.

Those that have money want it to be scarce, that they may control it. Those that haven't want it to be plentiful, that they may get it. There is no real certainty about money. It is a mystery like electricity. We have it, but don't know what it is.

Soviet Hopes To Open New Credit Field

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Oct. 24—The opening of a vast new field of credit and the removal of restrictions placed on some of its exports is hoped by the Soviet government to be the chief economic effect if and when America recognizes the Bolshevik regime.

In return for satisfactory credit facilities and the lowering of "forced labor" barriers against its goods, the Soviet state is ready to place large orders for American industrial equipment and raw materials.

"Give And Take" Demanded

The Kremlin emphasizes, however, that the latter is conditional on the former; that if America wants to sell more to this country it must not only supply the required credit but also must give Soviet goods free access to the American market on an equality with those of other countries.

Moscow authorities calculate that the surplus of goods in the United States places the Soviets in position to drive a bargain adn they frankly are out to get the best terms possible.

Long-term credit still is the main Soviet prerequisite for purchases abroad, more so than ever because of the shrinking market for its exports, which are its principal means of financing these purchases.

American Credits Expected

Credits of from two to more than four years have been extended to Moscow by Gemany, England and Italy on other large scales; so Russians do not think it unreasonable to suppose that similar long range financing will be expected from the United States.

Whether this is done privately or by government loan or by government guarantees of Russian paper, is immaterial to Moscow.

Phenomenal Increase Unexpected

While trade relations between the United State and Russia, which have declined in the past two years, undoubtedly will be improved, American business men probably will be disappointed if they expect a rich flood of Soviet orders.

Notwithstanding the tempting bait dangled before the world by Maxim Litvinov, commissar for foreign affairs, in his statement at the London economic conference that Russia was ready to buy a billion dollars' worth of goods in return for normal trading facilities, and the broad hints voiced by the Soviet press that America stood to profit enormously by recognition, there are definite signs here that there will be no immediate phenomenal increase in business.

In the first place Moscow has found it necessary to restrict new commitments abroad so as not to impair its badly strained capacity to meets its obligations. This is reflected in a sharp cut of more than 100 per cent in its imports in the first six months of 1933.

Home Industries Favored

Secondly, is the increasing trend as Soviet industrialization progresses, to substitute home-made equipment for that heretofore bought abroad.

An illustration of this was in the edict last winter of G. Ordzhonokidzie, commissar for heavy industry, cancelling $10,000,000 in orders about to be placed with foreign firms on the ground that such items now were being manufactured here.

Letters From Our Readers

TRAGIC SEPARATIONS.

Editor Star: How many persons have ever visited a county poorhouse under the system of operation most general over Ohio? Very few I imagine, or else there would be a more general movement to change the regulations now being enforced.

One of he most inhumane practices I know of today is that used in many of the poorhouses of our state of separating aged couples who are forced to find refuge there. Couples who have lived together for 20, 30, 40 and even 50 years, and through no fault of their own are forced to accept public charity in the poorhouse, when they enter the doors of that institution are rudely torn apart, the man sent to the men's dormitory, and the [illegible] to the women's dormitory. [illegible] practice, I believe, is one of the biggest arguments there is in favor of the passage at the election in November of the proposed old age pension bill. It would provide the means whereby worthy, needy aged couples could continue their lives in their own homes together, at a cost much lower than the average charge for maintainence in a county home.

A state is only as strong as the people who make up its citizenship and the wise state safeguards its citizenship against unnecessary hardships and inhumane treatment if for no other reason than to insure their loyalty.

Cerebrospinal Fever Contagious.

Recently I received a letter requesting me to write something about cerebrospinal fever, or "spotted fever." I am glad to do this because many confuse cerebrospinal fever with a more common disease known to the doctors as "meningitis."

Meningitis, as its name implies, is an inflammation of the membrane which covers the brain. It is more frequently encountered than cerebrospinal fever. The disease is not caused by the meningococcus germ but may come from various other germs.

For example, meningitis may be caused by the pneumococcus, the germ of pneumonia. The tubercle bacillus, the germ of tuberculosis, may be responsible. The typhoid bacillus, the germ of typhoid fever, or some other germ found in a diseased or infected system may cause meningitis.

But cerebrospinal fever is different. It is caused by the germ called "meningococcus." This organism enters the system through the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. It is carried through the circulation and eventually reaches the lining of the brain and spinal cord. Here it sets up a severe inflammation.

There is another ailment of which we hear much just now: This is "Rocky mountain spotted fever," carried by a wood tick. It differs from cerébrospinal fever, but is giving our health officials great concern.

Cerebrospnal fever is a serious and often fatal disease. Fortunately, it is not as common now as it was in former years. It is highly contagious and is quckly spread from one individual to another. Children and young adults are most susceptible to it. It is especially common among persons who are housed in close and unsanitary quarters. Overexertion, unpleasant surroundings, catarrhal inflammations, lack of fresh air and sunshine are other factors that must not be overlooked in building up resistance against it.

Unfortunately, cerebrospinal fever is often spread by individuals who are unaware that they harbor the germs of the disease. These persons are called "carriers" and like the carriers of typhoid fever, are a menace to the health of a community. It is even more difficult to detect a carrier of cerebrospinal fever than a carrier of typhoid fever.

Though carriers are mainly responsible for the spread of cerebrospinal fever, it is frequently transmitted by persons who really have the disease in such mild form it is not recognized. It is for this reason that medical attention is necessary for every ailment, regardless of how slight it may seem to you.

All suspected persons should be thoroughly examined for the meningococcus germ. A smear is taken from the roof of the hindmost part of the mouth. What is known as a "swab tube" is passed to the rear of the throat. This guards a sterile cotton swab and enables the doctor to make sure his specimen is not contaminated by other organisms in the mouth and the saliva.

If the germs are found, the patients must be isolated and receive proper attention. Victims of the disease are best treated at hospitals where all the necessary facilities for the treatment are within reach. Careful isolation of acute cases of cerebrospinal fever and the proper care of carriers, will lead to a marked decrease in the number of sufferers from this disease.

MAD DOG

IT'S scarcely fun being bitten by a dog with rabies. But at least the State of Ohio will pay all expenses for treatment. That's the law.

But the victim of tuberculosis doesn't fair so well. More than likely he'll be compelled, because of lack of financial aid, to mingle with his family, friends and fellow workers, spreading the deadly germs and exposing hundreds to suffering and death.

Tuberculosis can be cured—right here in Ohio—provided the patient can be given proper care and treatment. Why deny these unfortunates the right to recovery and a long, happy life? Why needlessly expose others in a community to this dreadful disease?

NOTHING should be permitted to stop the fight against tuberculosis. Every locality should make adequate provision for the care of needy tuberculous patients for the safety and protection of all. Write for free copy of "Blacking Out the White Plague."

ILLINOIS JOINS FARM STRIKE

Farmers Vote To Take Part in Anti-Selling Campaign.

PICKETING ON INCREASE

Trucks to Iowa Market Centers Are Halted on Roads.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 24—A new sector —a part of Illinois—today had been added to the agricultural "war" for higher prices, while pickets increased their activities in Iowa, home of the farm strike movement.

News that a group of Illinois farmers estimated to number 2000 had voted at Kankakee to join the anti-selling campaign, was followed by reports from western Iowa that pickets had stopped trucks loaded with farm products bound for the Omaha market.

Two groups of farmers, numbering 125 or more, halted about 20 trucks early today at Oakland, Iowa, while several others loaded with hogs were stopped at Crescent. At the latter point the drivers were warned not to attempt any further deliveries to Omaha.

"We mean business," one of the pickets told a driver. "Turn that truck back and don't come back."

Other reports told of picketing yesterday in northwestern Iowa, where many trucks bound for the Sioux City market, were turned back while from Wisconsin word was received that part of a load of milk was spilled by farm pickets before it could be delivered.

The action of the Illinois farmers came after they had listened to Milo Reno of Des Moines, president of the National Farmers' Holiday association, which sponsored the anti-selling drive, with the idea of raising farm prices and forcing the federal administration to give agriculturists an NRA.

Reno attacked Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, declaring he should be known as "the secretary of Wall Street."

At one time when [illegible] technicalities of the motion [illegible] prolonged, Mayor Phillips asked that the motion be adopted [illegible] are the application being pressed [illegible] ed when the survey and [illegible] now the project practical.

Action in Harmony

Councilmen declared that the motion authorizing the application for funds is in harmony with the Citizens Utility movement. "The citizens committee really grew out of steps taken against high utility rates following a council meeting," Councilman Henry O'Dowd declared "so anything that comes out of the campaign surely is in accord with council's wishes."

Attacks on the Marion Water Co. for delay in the rate parleys were made by several councilmen, including President Messenger, who said no blame for the delay should be laid on the council or its committee. Time after time the company put off negotiations, Mr. Messenger said, taking it out of the committee's hands to proceed.

A review of the rate concessions so far gained was contained in the report of the ordinance and franchise committee, citing a reduction made by the C., D. & M. Electric Co. of approximately $100,000 a year; the present water reduction; negotiations pending with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and a telephone refund recently of $108,000.

In discussing telephone rates councilmen said subscribers are getting only 50 per cent service because of the drop in the number of telephones. The rates were based on a subscriber list of 7,000 telephones, councilman said, while now there are only about 3,700 telephones on the Marion exchange.

To Improve Drainage

Service Director E. O. Uncapher reported to council that flood conditions on Thew avenue will be cleared away shortly under arrangements pending between the city service department and the county commissioners. Mr. Uncapher said enough 18-inch vitrified pipe had been salvaged from the trunk line of the old sewage disposal plant to relay the sewer in McKinley park, which has been causing the flood conditions, he said.

A salary of $100 a month was established for Safety Director Emery M. Murphy, who until now has been receiving $150 a month from the federal poor relief funds and no salary from the city. Yesterday he was replaced as relief director by John Abel, who became county relief director and now Murphy will give his time to the duties of safety director. The salary is to be paid during the remainder of this year.

An ordinance passed in 1930, defining "commercial districts" and residential districts of the city was amended to include four lots on the west side of Uncapher avenue immediately south of Bennett street in the commercial district. This was done, council members said, to include in the commercial district a grocery and meat market which H. H. Cooper of Oakland Heights is planning to build.

A petition of 40 property owners and residents on Silver street near the Pennsylvania railroad crossing was presented to council, requesting that the railroad be asked to move its switch engines from a siding at the crossing to a point where the soot and smoke will not disturb the neighborhood. Council instructed City Clerk S. H. Keller to write the railroad, asking that the engines be moved to the extreme north part of the yards.

Report on Water

A report by Floyd G. Browne on the hardness of city water in the period from Oct. 11-23 to have ranged from a high of 11.6 grains per gallon on Oct. 19 to a low of 10.9 on Oct. 23. By franchise, the grains of hardness per gallon must not exceed 12 grains.

Service Director Uncapher was authorized to make a contract with the state highway department providing that the city will maintain at its own expense the portion of [illegible] Main street from George [illegible] avenue which the highway department is to resurface. $25,000 SOUGHT IN TWO DAMAGE SUITS

Automobile Accidents Basis of Both Actions Filed in Court Here.

Judgments totaling $25,000 are sought in two damage suits filed in common pleas court today, both actions growing out of traffic mishaps.

Mrs. Lulu M. Corwin of Le Moine, O., administratrix of the estate of the late Mrs. Alice R. Sines of near Big Island, seeks $15,000 for the death of Mrs. Sines on Sept. 7 two days after she was struck by an automobile allegedly driven by George Heckman of Mt. Vernon. Mrs. Sines was struck while attempting to cross Harding highway near her home.

The administratrix charges that Heckman's alleged carelessness and negligence caused the accident, and asserts that his automobile was off the paved portion of the road when it struck Mrs. Sines.

Donald Parr, 9, in an action brought through his father, William F. Parr of Marion, seeks $10,000 from F. L. Sanderson, claiming permanent injuries were suffered when Sanderson's car allegedly struck him on Oct. 24, 1931. The boy, crossing West Center street near the Marion theater, was hurled to the pavement, and his right eye was so severely injured by broken spectacles that it was removed, according to the petition. Severe shock and other injuries also resulted from the accident, it is stated. Parr charges Sanderson was careless and negligent in the operation of his automobile.

The law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant represent both plaintiffs.

U. S. TO MAKE FIRST PURCHASE OF GOLD

Government To Move Under New Plan for Managed Currency.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 — The first purchase of newly mined gold under President Roosevelt's move toward a managed currency will be made tomorrow.

Jesse Jones, as chairman of the Reconstruction corporation, Dean Acheson, as acting secretary of the treasury, and probably Henry Morgenthau, Jr., representing the President, will meet at the treasury at 9:30 a. m., or soon thereafter.

President Roosevelt today conferred with the three officials who will participate in tomorrow's conference.

It was said in high government quarters today that the price to be paid would be slightly above the world price level, but officials scrupulously refrained from giving any more definite indications of the amount to be paid.

This was the last day for the treasury setting the price to be paid for gold on the world level. It was placed at $29.80 an ounce, 21 cents more than the day before. The practice has been followed for weeks back but is to be abandoned in view of the Roosevelt purchase plan.

Talk of outright currency inflation persists among its advocates here, despite the new plan that does not embrace printing press money.

OHIO PREPARES FOR FIGHT WITH HUNGER

State Promises United Front To Prevent Suffering Next Winter.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24 — Ohio promises a united front in the war on hunger and need next winter.

Called here by Major E. O. Braught, state relief director, workers in the relief army from every part of the state organized to press forward in a common cause against unemployment and poverty, with statewide distribution of federal lots of foodstuffs as one of their mightiest weapons.

After hearing Major Braught interpret orders issued by federal and state relief agencies, the workers divided into groups to discuss regional problems.

Added ammunition, they were told, is to be gained from a census of Ohio families now receiving public aid. With that data, congress will be able next year to weigh the state's financial needs and underwrite the program. George W. Schreek of the bureau of the census in Washington, informed the workers that compiling of those figures will be part of their job.

Foodstuffs shipped into the state by the federal government will be distributed through chain stores, wholesale groceries and independent dealers wherever possible, W. R. McNamara, food commodities distribution head for the state, said. The distribution will start in two weeks and will include butter and other dairy products.

Where stores are not available to handle it, commissaries set up by township trustees will distribute the food.

will say grace at the luncheon, followed by a talk on "Junior Red Cross," by Miss Evelyne Tussey, a senior in the Westerville, O., high school. Mr. Hughes will then speak on "The Red Cross, a Permanent Asset in Community and Nation."

Scheduled for the afternoon session are talks on "Production and Distribution," by Miss Ruth Riley, general field representative of the American Red Cross; "Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick," by Mrs. Theodosia Wardell, public health nurse of the Knox county chapter at Mt. Vernon; "First Aid and Life Saving," by Dr. Drew L. Davies, chairman of the first aid and life saving committee of the Franklin county chapter at Columbus; "Cooperative Service in Helping to Meet Present Relief Needs," by Mr. Dix, and "Home Service," by Thomas Kehoe, liaison representative of the American Red Cross at the United States Veterans' administration regional offices in Cleveland.

Men Have Experience

The three national officials, Dix, Hughes and Marcellus, have played important roles in the Red Cross work in recent years. All have been long connected with the organization.

Mr. Dix has had great responsibility in relief work in the Mississippi Valley flood in 1927, in the Arkansas disaster, and other great emergencies. His regular position as assistant manager of the eastern area calls for supervision of all Red Cross work east of the Mississippi rivr.

Mr Hughes has been in Red Cross work since 1918 when he joined as a volunteer worker. He served as legal advisot to the war council. At the close of the war he was assistant general manager for two years before becoming legal advisor.

Long experience in educational work both as teacher and superintendent, equipped Mr. Marcellus for his post as national director of the Junior Red Cross. He also saw service in the field artillery in the World war, has been connected with industrial organizations and has been a volunteer worker in the Boy Scout movement.

CLEVELAND OPENS MAYCRALTY FIGHT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27—The mayoralty race between Ray T. Miller, Democratic incumbent, and Harry L. Davis, former mayor and former Republican governor of Ohio was officially on its way today.

In opening addresses to political rallies last night, Miller assailed Davis' past record, Davis charged the present mayor with "wastefulness, heartlessness and untruthfulness" and asserted the followers of Congressman Martin L. Sweeney, insurgent Democrat who was eliminated in the non partisan primary, were coming under the Davis banner.

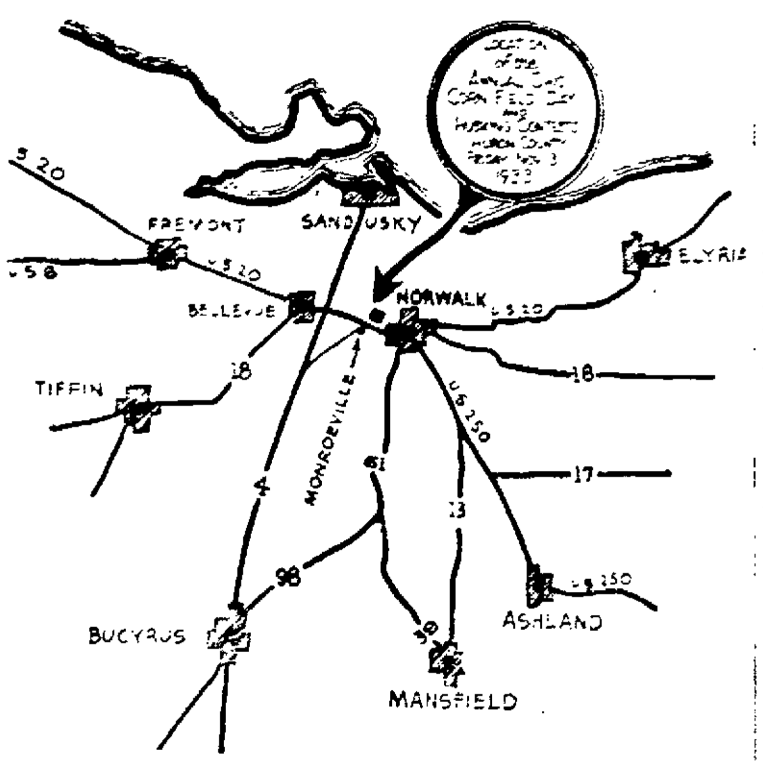
Marion Co. Corn Huskers To Enter State Contest



The above illustration shows the location of the state corn husking contest, Nov. 3, with regard to the Marion district. To reach Monroeville, 56 miles north of here, take route 4 out of Marion north through Bucyrus to the cutoff shown in the map. This cutoff leads directly to Monroeville near where the contests and field day will be staged on the Henry farm.

* * *

Marion county's two corn husking champions, Ralph F. Augenstein of near Waldo and Earl Spiece of near Kirkpatrick, will represent the county Nov. 3 in the fourth annual state husking contests on the farm of Arthur F. Henry at Monroeville, in Huron county.

Along with the contests, a corn field day will be held, with a crowd of 15,000 spectators expected. The program will include athletic and educational features.

Augenstein and Spiece, county champions both this year and last, will be accompanied by a large following of Marion county farmers. Augenstein is champion in the shock corn class while Spiece holds the title in standing corn competition.

The winner in the state standing corn contest will be given a trip to the national contest in Nebraka, Nov. 9.

Educational features of the state meet, which include exhibits and demonstrations of corn growing and corn harvesting practices will be in charge of the Ohio Agricultural Extension service, jointly operated by the Ohio State university and the U. S. department of agriculture.

A graphic explanation will be given of the new corn-hog adjustment program recently announced by the agricultural adjustment administration. Demonstrations will include successful ways of hitching horses, rubber tire equipment for farm tractors fertilization of corn, place of corn in the dairy ration and "hybrid" corns. Farm machinery exhibits also will be on band.

Forty teams of thoroughbred draft horses will be supplied for the huskers by the Huron County Draft Horse association and will be judged for prizes. L. J. Taber, master of the National grange, will headline a short speaking program to follow the contests.

REPEAL BIG ISSUE AT STATE ELECTION

early qualified a list of anti-repeal candidates, after the Ohio supreme court had decided the mandate of congress left them no opportunity to bar the vote on the grounds the candidates should have been chosen from senatorial districts.

Leading Drys Named

The drys named some of the foremost men and women in the state's prohibition movement on their slate. Included were Dr. Howard Hyde Russell of Westerville, founder of the Anti-Saloon league; Mrs. Viola D. Romans of Columbus, president of the Ohio W. C. T. U., and a number of ministers and members of the legislature.

The Ohio repeal council, a group of six organizations banded for prohibition reform filed a slate of 51 candidates shortly before the time limit expired. The death of Charles L. Knight, Akron publisher, delayed their action. In a contest for the fifty-second place on the ticket a group of young lawyers managed to get approval for Lockwood Thompson of Cleveland. Others on the wet slate included Robert J. Bulkley, U. S. senator; Atlee Pomerene, former senator; H. G. Brunner, former Democratic state chairman; seven women prominent in the prohibition reform movement and at least one minister.

Before the election, Attorney General John Bricker must decide if voters can follow the general Ohio election laws and "scratch" ballots, or if they must follow a course defined by the act creating the election and vote either straight tickets or for individuals on only one ticket.

Another complicating factor, if repeal is approved, is the uncertainty of whether territories dry before statewide and national prohibition under local option statutes would be wet or would remain dry. The attorney general is also pondering that question.

7,000 AUSTRIANS FLEE TO GERMANY

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Oct. 24 — More than 7,000 Austrians for whom their native country became intolerable have taken refuge in Chancellor Adolf Hitler's third reich, according to figures compiled in the foreign office.

These refugees include four Austrian officers who crossed the border in full uniform, 50 privates [illegible] deserted similarly, hundreds of former officers and privates who were discharged for being politically undependable and thousands of Austrian Nazis who are wanted by Austrian police for allegedly subversive activities.

A letter from the files of the Chase National bank [illegible] the now deposed president was $[illegible],000 short in the [illegible] 1931.

The letter, from one Chase official to another said the matter was "worrying the President and our own state department."

FINAL WORLD FAIR TRIPS SCHEDULED

Special Rates Offered by Railroads Serving Marion.

The C. & O., Big Four and Erie railroads are offering special round-trip rates to Chicago during the next three week-ends to give Marion residents a final opportunity to visit the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, it was announced today at the Union station.

Trains on which the special rates will be effective will leave Friday, Saturday and Sunday until noon on each week-end and will return as late as the following Wednesday of each week.

The Erie railroad also is offering a special excursion to the exposition, to leave Marion Nov. 10 at 7:15 p. m. and return the following Monday at 12:05 a. m.

NEW ERA PICTURED BY CHURCH BISHOP

"Old Order" Gone Forever, Audience at Parish House Here Is Told.

Present-day conditions are a challenge to the church, the Rt. Rev. Elmer N. Schmuck, D. D., Bishop of Wyoming, told a gathering of members of St. Paul's Episcopal church last night at the parish house.

"The old order that has obtained in the world and country is going," he said. "It would be fine to live 200 years hence to note the form in which the change will take. It is our obligation to take our religion seriously in assisting the consummation of the unfolding change."

"There are those who want to go back to the old order, but we are not going back. If what obtained in the past brought us to our recent and present conditions why return to it and again experience miseries just endured. God is ever making change in life."

Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector of St. Paul's, presided at the meeting, which was one of several which Bishop Schmuck is holding in the Ohio diocese preparatory to the annual "Every Member" campaign early in November.

Bishop Schmuck visited the Harding home and memorial yesterday and this morning left for Lima to conduct a meeting. He was a guest at the rectory on Lafayette street last night.

ILLNESS IS FATAL TO MARION WOMAN

Mrs. Thomas Hoffman Dies at Home; Funeral To Be Wednesday.

Mrs. Dora Muriel Hoffman, 48, Marion county native, died Sunday at 7:15 a. m. at her home at 164 East Fairground street after a three years' illness of a complication of diseases. The funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Schaffner-Queen funeral home on East Center street.

Her husband, Thomas Hoffman, to whom she was married Sept. 16, 1905, in Marion, is her only survivor. She was a member of the M. E. church at Prospect.

Mrs. Hoffman was born June 15, 1885, at Prospect to Isaac and Clara Barrick.

Rev. S. F. Porter of Emmanuel Baptist church will officiate at the funeral. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may view the body at the funeral home.

GOV. WHITE ACTS TO PROTECT PRISONER

Orders Move After Arrest of Man in Lima Sheriff Slaying.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24—Governor George White today announced that Adj. Gen. Frank Henderson had detailed Brig. Gen. Harold M. Bush of Columbus, to investigate the situation at Wapakoenta where Fred Pierpont is held for questioning in the slaying of Sheriff Fred Sarber of Allen county.

Bush was instructed to confer with Auglaize county authorities and attempt to work out with them some method of insuring against any member of the gang that slew Sarber attempting to harm Pierpont, a brother of Harry Pierpont, who has been identified as the actual killer of the sheriff.

Prosecutor E. M. Botkin of Allen county yesterday said Auglaize county authorities would ask the governor to assign national guardsmen to guard the Auglaize county jail. Henderson, however, indicated he did not think such action was necessary to guard against a repetition of the Lima jail raid, killing and release of John L. Dillinger, suspected bank robber.

The attorney general said he did not know what Bush would suggest but that the general might attempt to work out some system by which a group of American legionaires from Wapakoneta might be organized into a vigilante committee that would be available on instant call in event of trouble.

REV. SWAIN SPEAKER AT POLITICAL MEET

Kirkpatrick Minister Talks on "Future of Democratic Party."

The Democratic party and its future was the subject for Rev. J. B. Swain of Kirkpatrick in an address to 200 members of the Marion County Democratic club in the party headquarters last night.

Rev. Swain predicted the national administration will continue work on a well-rounded program of national betterment, profiting by experiences and shaping the program to meet the country's problems.

J. W. Jacoby spoke briefly on the municipal campaign, now under way. Announcements were made of plans for a Second ward Bolin Booster club meeting Thursday night at the Silver Street school and a Fifth ward meeting Friday night in Gelbaugh's garage.

MARION DELEGATES GOING TO MEETING

Mrs. J. T. McNamara, Mrs. A. J. Zwilling, Mrs. Robert Ramroth and Mrs. John W. Peoples Wednesday will go to Hamilton, where they will attend the regional meeting of the Archdiocesan Federation of Catholic Women. The meeting will be preceded by the celebration of mass in St. Stephen's Catholic church. Luncheon and the business session will be held at the Font Moor hotel.

Far East Situation Seen in Negotiations

By The Associated Press

[illegible] Oct. 24—That the [illegible] situation in the Far East [illegible] American overtures for [illegible] of the Soviet was con[illegible] probably by observ[illegible] today.

[illegible] thought plausible in some [illegible] quarters because Russia's [illegible] to strengthen her own position [illegible] through the cultivating of [illegible] relations is apparent.

Another talking point was the [illegible] that when Litvinoff goes to Washington he will go prepared [illegible] some sort of understanding regarding Japan.

In recent weeks, tension between Japan and the U. S. S. R. has been [illegible] strained—marked by [illegible] threats of a severance of diplomatic relations by Japan.

International circles at Geneva have been reported as viewing the Russo-Japanese situation with far more alarm than troubles arising [illegible] of disarmament difficulties in Europe.

This view, it was painted out unofficially here, might plausibly have been shared at Washington when the Russo-American negotiations were proposed.

Meanwhile official sources kept the lid clapped tight on plans for the forthcoming negotiations between President Roosevelt and Foreign Commissar Litvinoff.

Homemaker's Question Box

Answer—The color varies with the types of meat, that is, good beef is of a light cherry red color; veal is almost white with a pink tinge; pork, when from a young animal is nearly white, and that from an older animal is rose color; the flesh of young lamb is light pinkish white, that of mutton is a dull brick red color.

The flesh of sound meat should be firm, uniform in texture, velvety in appearance and well mottled with fat, according to Alma Garvin, extension specialist in nutrition for the Ohio State university. In general, the fat should be firm and evenly distributed through the meat, the color should be appropriate, for example, beef fat should be firm and cream color; veal fat should be pinkish white and firm; lamb fat should be white, brittle and flaky; pork fat should be white, firm and smooth.

AT TRAGIC END

Tragic end to an 18-year search for his lost son came when Frank "Cy" Forsythe (inset), former big league baseball player, found the boy, known as Roy Mann (top), in jail at Sacramento, Calif., under a murder charge. As a lad of four, the boy had been placed in custody of a Topeka, Kan., family which moved away while Forsythe was on a baseball tour. (International News Photo.)

BETHLEHEM GRANGE VICTOR AT FINDLAY

Grange flag designed by the Bethlehem grange and used in the program to symbolize in colors the different phases of grange work probably will be submitted to the national convention in Boise, Idaho, next month by the Ohio State executive committee as a suggestion for a national grange flag.

Opposes Farm Strikes

In an address between programs last night Mr. Taber, national grange head, voiced the opinion that violence in the farm belt would hinder improvement. He asserted that the NRA and the Agricultural Adjustment administration will solve the farmer's difficulties.

Strikes and riots would retard progress, he declared, and in commenting on the farm holiday movement in the midwest, added that "only organization will help. The strike movement will not spread although it will probably be more intense in those centers where it now exists."

He listed a program for the grange, including a request for currency inflation, lowering of interest charges, broadening the base of taxation and lifting of farm prices by adjustment and opening new markets.

State Master Kirk also spoke briefly, complimenting the granges on their work in the preparation of model programs.

In the state finals in Wooster Dec. 12-14 Bethlehem grange will meet Fredericksburg grange of Wayne county and another to be chosen in a regional contest tonight at Chillicothe.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want the best cough remedy that money can buy, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Snarling Mansfield Tygers Next Foe of Harding

MARION IS UNDERDOG BUT HOPES TO PULL SURPRISE SATURDAY

Mason Lost to Presidents Through Injury Suffered at Findlay.

Harding High school's football brigade will face its toughest assignment of the entire 1933 campaign Saturday at Fairground field. The Presidents will play host to the Mansfield Tygers on that day in a North Central Ohio league game. Only the varsity teams will play. No reserve game is scheduled with the Tygers.

Only the most partisan of Harding followers would give the Presidents a chance to stop the high powered Mansfield machine which hasn't been beaten since 1928 and which has gained nothing worse than a tie score in its last 37 starts. Despite this fact, however, Cheadle's proteges are working at top speed in an effort to get themselves into the best possible condition for a shot at the Tygers. They aren't forgetting that twice since that Mansfield winning streak started, they went into competition with the Men of Murphy with everyone expecting a lop sided beating and came out with a deadlock score.

Several Injured

Harding's hopes of pulling a surprise and stopping the Tygers were not boosted any after a preliminary look at the hospital list following last Saturday's scrap with Findlay. At least one man, George Mason, is definitely out of the Mansfield battle and two or three others are rather badly battered up. Mason, first string guard, suffered torn ligaments in his wrist and may not get back in the lineup the rest of the season.

Both of the regular flankers, Walker and Chappell, are suffering from leg injuries and while both will probably be ready to go, neither is likely to be in condition for a long and gruelling conflict. Ingmire is still bothered with a shoulder injury and can't be counted on for very much service.

Difficult Problem

The loss of Mason leaves Cheadle with a difficult problem in the center of the forward wall. Zuck can move in and take Mason's place at guard but in case of injury to either Weller, the center or Zuck, the guard, Cheadle will have no experienced replacements. Mason can play either position.

The long list of casualties will probably mean that the squad will dispense with any hard scrimmages this week in preparing for the visit of Mansfield. Cheadle isn't likely to take chances on any more injuries inasmuch as one or two casualties would force him to use inexperienced sophomores against the Tygers, a move which would bode nothing but ill for Marion against a team of the Tygers' calibre.

Rumania is estimated to have 17,844,000 acres of forest land, about one-fourth of the total area of the country.

TRICKY FISHBAUGH DOWNS M'NAUGHT IN MAT SHOW FEATURE

Both Take One Fall But Canadian Unable To Finish Match.

BY KARL R. M'ELROY

With most of the thrills packed into the main event of last night's wrestling program, Les Fishbaugh came through with a victory over Scotty McNaught of Hamilton, Ont.

When it comes to putting on an exciting program, the Newark Cobbler and McNaught can be depended upon to do it. This was the case last night although one of Fishbaugh's little tricks ended the match too soon for the fans.

McNaught won the first fall with his now famous Indian death lock. That's McNaught's most convincing hold and it took just 28 minutes for him to show it to Fishbaugh's satisfaction. The planing hold was put on after Fishbaugh had fallen out of the ring after a hard butt.

One fan received a wrestler in his lap when McNaught made a flying leap out of the ring. McNaught smashed two chairs as he crashed into the man. The man, by the way, had been razzing everyone in the ring, including the two wrestlers and the referee.

Fishbaugh won the second and third falls in his usual fashion. The Newark Cobbler knocked McNaught onto the floor while the latter was attempting to climb back into the ring. This is usually considered a foul but for some reason or other it was overlooked. When McNaught got back into the ring a couple of crotch slams ended it in seven minutes and the Canadian was unable to appear for the last fall.

Bob Montgomery was too strong for Lefty Pacer in the semi-final. He won in straight falls, using a series of butts to take the first in eight minutes and a number of crotch slams to take the second in five minutes.

In the preliminary, Billy Londos defeated Frank Kraus in nine minutes with a series of slams.

B. A. A. LEADERS TO TACKLE NON-LEAGUE ELEVENS SATURDAY

Wesleyan, Sharing Three-Way Tie for Top, Will Meet Denison.

The triple tie that exists for first place in the Buckeye conference grid race will not be broken this week-end, when all three leaders are slated for combat with non conference elevens.

Ohio, Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan are the leaders, each having won its first Buckeye game last Saturday. Ohio edged out Miami, defending champions, 6 to 0; Cincinnati buried Marshall under a 19 to 9 count, and the Battling Bishops gave Wittenberg a 41 to 7 licking.

This Saturday Ohio entertains Transylvania at Athens, Cincinnati likewise is a host with Butler its guest in a night game, and Ohio Wesleyan goes to Granville for its annual tussle with Denison.

One conference game will be played, however, with Wittenberg going to Miami. Regardless of its outcome, the game cannot affect the top standings. Marshall meets Georgetown in a non-conference game at Huntington.

The two placekicks made by "Woody" Wills, Ohio sophomore quarterback, against Miami last Saturday may prove to be the deciding points in this year's Buckeye title chase, although there's still a rocky road ahead for the Athenians and Miami still has a chance to regain its lofty position.

Wills shot two field goals between the uprights in the first quarter against Miami, and the six points proved to be the only ones made that day.

* * *

Either Cincinnati or Ohio Wesleyan will be dropped out of the triple tie for first place on Saturday, Nov. 4, when the two are booked to meet in Ohio Wesleyan's homecoming game at Delaware. Should the game end in a tie, of course their standings would not be jeopardized seriously.

* * *

John Zontini, the Marshall halfback who was lauded as this year's Buckeye conference star as far back as a year ago, is the leading scorer of the conference, although he has played three games and most of the teams have played but once. Zontini has scored three touchdowns and one point after touchdown for 19 points.

ALABAMA THREATENS PLENTY OF TROUBLE FOR FORDHAM RAMS

Crowley, Hoping for Perfect Season, Fears Invasion of Southerners.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 — Jimmy Crowley, hoping for an undefeated season in his first year as coach at Fordham university, awaits the invasion of Alabama's crimson tide with not a little apprehension.

J. M. CROWLEY

His scouts have brought reports of a line averaging better than 200 pounds, a powerful, tricky backfield and adequate replacements. Outside of that, they say, Fordham has nothing whatever to worry about.

"The breaks will decide this game," Earl Walsh, an assistant coach and scout for the Rams, says. "Those 'Bama boys are good, just as good and just as big as we are. I look for a close score with the winner requiring a break or two."

For the first time this season, the well-known intersectional angle will play "second fiddle" to conference competition. All ten members of the Pacific coast conference will square off against one another; so will the complete membership of the Big Six; eight of the 12 Rocky mountain conference group, six of the seven Southwest conference teams, and virtually all of the big eastern and southern arrays.

Head Coach Andy Kerr and Captain Winnie Anderson contributed some important master-minding to the touchdown play that beat New York university last week:

Before the game, Kerr called the officials aside, diagrammed a play and said:

"We may use this during the game. There's nothing illegal 'bout it but the man who first carries the ball might look as if he's being too fast."

whistle too fast."

The teams battled scorelessly through the first period and toward the close of the second Anderson suddenly turned to the head linesman and asked: "How much time left?"

"I'll have to take time out to find out if you want me to," the linesman replied.

"I'll take it," said Anderson.

Time was called and it was found only one second of the half remained. Under the rules the clock did not start working again until the ball was snapped. Charley Soleau, Colgate quarterback, called for Kerr's special play. As the ball plunked into Jack Fritt's hands from center the whistle, ending the half, blew, but the play had to be completed. Fritts carried the ball. [illegible], right end, hugged his place, stepped back and took a pass from Fritts and ran for the only touchdown of the game.

DIAMOND NOTABLES AT RITES FOR BALL

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24 — Headed by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis and William Harridge, president of the American league, baseball notables gathered today for the funeral of Philip De Catesby Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns.

Services were at 2 p. m., with burial in Bellefontaine cemetery in St. Louis.

"We battled for years over baseball matters, but I can only say the best things about Mr. Ball," said Landis upon his arrival here from Chicago. "He did not go about and tell other people what he thought about me. Instead, he singled me out and made no bones about informing me he thought I was out of order on some of the things I said and did.

"He was loyal to the national game and proved it by continually paying the bills. He lost a fortune in his baseball investment."

Springfield Ready.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 24 — The challenge of Mansfield High school, undefeated for five years, to play a post season football game has been accepted by Springfield High school. A $1,000 guarantee for the game, Nov. 25, has been offered by Springfield, but the school has not received a reply to its offer.

STARS READY FOR EAST AND WEST GRID CLASSICS SATURDAY

TOMMY CURTIN, YALE
CAPT. JABLONSKY ARMY
STANLEY "SID" FULLER, YALE
CALIFORNIA
JACK BUCKLER, ARMY
CAL CLEMENS, U.S.C.

Some 160,000 gridiron fans are expected to see these football stars in action Saturday when Army meets Yale at New Haven and those traditional rivals of the Pacific coast, California and University of Southern California clash at Berkeley. Army downed Yale last year to the tune of 20-to-0 with Jack Buckler playing a sensational game. The U. S. C. Trojans swamped their Golden Bear rivals 27 to 0 and the boys at Berkeley are primed to try to square accounts. It will be a great football day on both coasts.

Current Crop of Giants Makes Others Look Puny

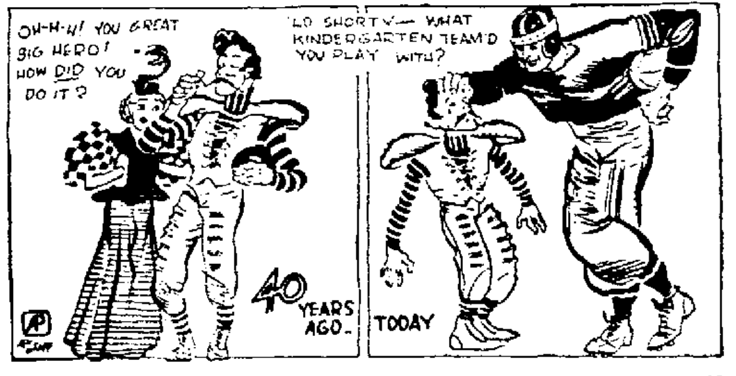
BY PARKE H. DAVIS

Noted Football Statistician

(Written for The Associated Press)

NEW YORK There is a belief current that the football players of by-gone days were taller, heavier and more rugged than the exemplars of the present time. Apparently distance lends enhancement as well as enchantment to the view.

An assembly of the personal statistics of the players of the United States reveals that this belief is not founded upon fact. Indeed, the contrary is true, the players of the present are taller, heavier and probably equally as rugged as the men of the past. This characteristic of men to associate greater height and size with the representatives of the past has always prevailed.



OH-H-H! YOU GREAT BIG HERO! HOW DID YOU DO IT?
LO SHORTY— WHAT KINDERGARTEN TEAM'D YOU PLAY WITH?
40 YEARS AGO.
TODAY

Forty and more years ago we pointed to Walter Heffleflnger of Yale, six feet, two and one-half inches and weighing 210 pounds, as our representative giant, and down the years Walter has come as the classic giant of the sport.

This year there are more than 60 players taller and heavier than Walter Hefflefinger. Any discussion of the giants playing football this fall would have to begin a full half-inch above the mark where Walter Hefflefinger left off.

In short, Heffleflnger, mathematically today, would not even be the starting minimum, for there are more than 100 players fully as tall and heavy as he was.

There are 335 players on our records standing six feet, three inches, and probably half as many more not discovered. Among these are several of national pre-eminence in their play: Charles B. Bernard, center of Michigan; Frank J. Butler, center of Michigan State; Marton Cummings, tackle of Illinois; John M. Hutchinson, tackle of the Army; Edward Krause, tackle of Notre Dame; Bernard Masterson, halfback of Nebraska; Walter Mueller, end of California at Los Angeles, and Peter Zaremba, tackle of New York university. All of these men have been accorded honorable mention in All-America discussions.

Fourteen men have been found who measure six feet, four inches. Notable among these are Mat Brasnyo, tackle of St. Mary's, and Peter Kopscak, end of the Army.

In the bracket marked six feet and five inches we find nine players. Standing forth among them for fame and skill are "Ted" Rosequist, tackle of Ohio State, and Jack Torrance, tackle of Louisiana, weighing 275 pounds and the largest man in all football.

Now we move up another inch to the line labeled six feet and six inches. Here we find two players and, curiously, upon the same team, New York University. These two men are Jim Ruddy and Stephen Shields, both tackles.

The cry is "Still they come." And still we climb, on up to six feet, seven inches. Here we find the tallest player in all football, Edward Meinhower, tackle of the University of North Dakota. He weighs 245 pounds and is every inch a football man, fast, lithe and athletic.

For those who long to be in the society of giants, I suggest they visit our football fields any Saturday.

SPARTANS SECOND IN GROUND GAINING

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—The New York Giants and Portsmouth Spartans are waging a close fight for ground gaining honors in the national professional football league with the Giants holding a slight advantage right now.

New York has gained 1,455 yards in six games so far against 1,451 for Portsmouth. Boston with 1,405 yards in six games stands third while Brooklyn, with 660 in three, ranks fourth in the averages.

Defensively the Green Bay Packers still hold the palm, permitting the opposition an average of only 135 5-6 yards. The Spartans are second with 152½, and the league leading Chicago Bears third with 154 2-5.

AL. GATCHELL TO FIGHT THURSDAY

Al. Gatchell of Upper Sandusky and Jim Carter of Fostoria a pair of hard swinging heavyweights will headline a boxing card at the Indian garage in Upper Sandusky Thursday, Oct. 26 at 8:30 p. m. Gatchell and Carter will go 10 rounds. Carter is credited by promoters with having won his last 19 starts by knockouts and Gatchell also has a good record.

Other bouts on the card are: Kid Mondue of Marion vs. Dickie Mitchell of Findlay, eight rounds; Bob Kinsey of Delaware vs. Bob Greenland of Marion, four rounds; Toughy Miller of Upper Sandusky vs. Dickey Moore of Findlay, four rounds and K. O. Hart of Wharton vs. Eddie Jacoby of Carey, four rounds.

The card will start at 8:30 p. m.

Injuries Hit Squad.

WESTERVILLE, O., Oct. 24—Major injuries to five regulars were counted by the football coaching staff of Oberlin after the school's defeat by Denison Saturday. The regulars will not be able to play in the game with Ohio Northern, next on the schedule.

CHICAGO HOPES TO STOP MICHIGAN WITH SMALL SCORE

Maroons Don't Expect Victory; Ohio State To Battle Northwestern.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 24—With Big Ten championship hopes, born after two non-conference victories, completely out of the picture, football at the University of Chicago got back to normalcy this week.

That visions of a title the Maroons had were blurred by Purdue's 14 to 0 win.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy was not particularly upset over the Maroons' defeat but he is a bit apprehensive of the game Saturday with Michigan. He isn't looking for a victory over the Wolverines, but he does hope the Maroons will hold the Wolves to a reasonable score.

It will be the twenty-first meeting of the two universities. Michigan has won 15 of the contests.

With the exception of the Iowa-Minnesota fracas at Minneapolis the next most important game Saturday is the Northwestern-Ohio State clash at Columbus. If the Buckeyes expect an easy foe in the Wildcats they are sadly mistaken. Dick Hanley's Cats have a defense that Ohio will find hard to penetrate. Northwestern will scarcely be able to present an offense as brilliant and varied as Michigan did to Ohio State Saturday, but the Wildcats will be a scoring threat.

The rivalry between the two teams is not an old one, but one of the most strongly contested. Ohio State holds a 7 to 4 edge in the 11 previous games.

Hanley thinks the Cats are due for a still better showing on offense. Under bad conditions Saturday Northwestern managed to score three touchdowns against the big Indiana eleven. It was the first sign of an offense that the Cats have displayed this season.

Saturday's game is the only away from home game Northwestern plays this year.

Does Fairly Well Now.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 24—If Bucky Bryan's an invalid, Georgia Tech hopes they never have to play Tulane when the backfield flash is in good health. He ran 101 yards for the touchdown that beat Tech last week but now it develops he's weak and underweight as a result of a snake-bite during the summer.

A DESIRE TO ROAM IS ONE OF THE CHARACTERISTICS OF "BONKUS OF THE KONKUS"-HE'S WANDERING ABOUT, NOT KNOWING OR CARING WHERE HE GOES
WE MUST FIND HIM!
I WON'ER WICH WAY IS NORT?
SOUT'?
EAS?
OR WES?
WE'LL FOLLOW THE SUN AN' GO WES'-OUT WES' AN' FIND ME HORSH-I YAMA LONELY COWBOY GOIN' WES'
HURRY BEFORE HE GETS TOO FAR AHEAD OF US
IF WE DON'T FIND HIM HE WILL DROP OVER AND THE CHILD WILL PERISH
YOUR MAJESTY, THAT POPEYE FELLOW IS A DEMON
YOU FAILED TO BRING BACK OUR GOOD LUCK BABY-BUT GOMBO HAS COME OUT OF THE JUNGLE TO ASSIST ME-HA! HE WILL GET HIM

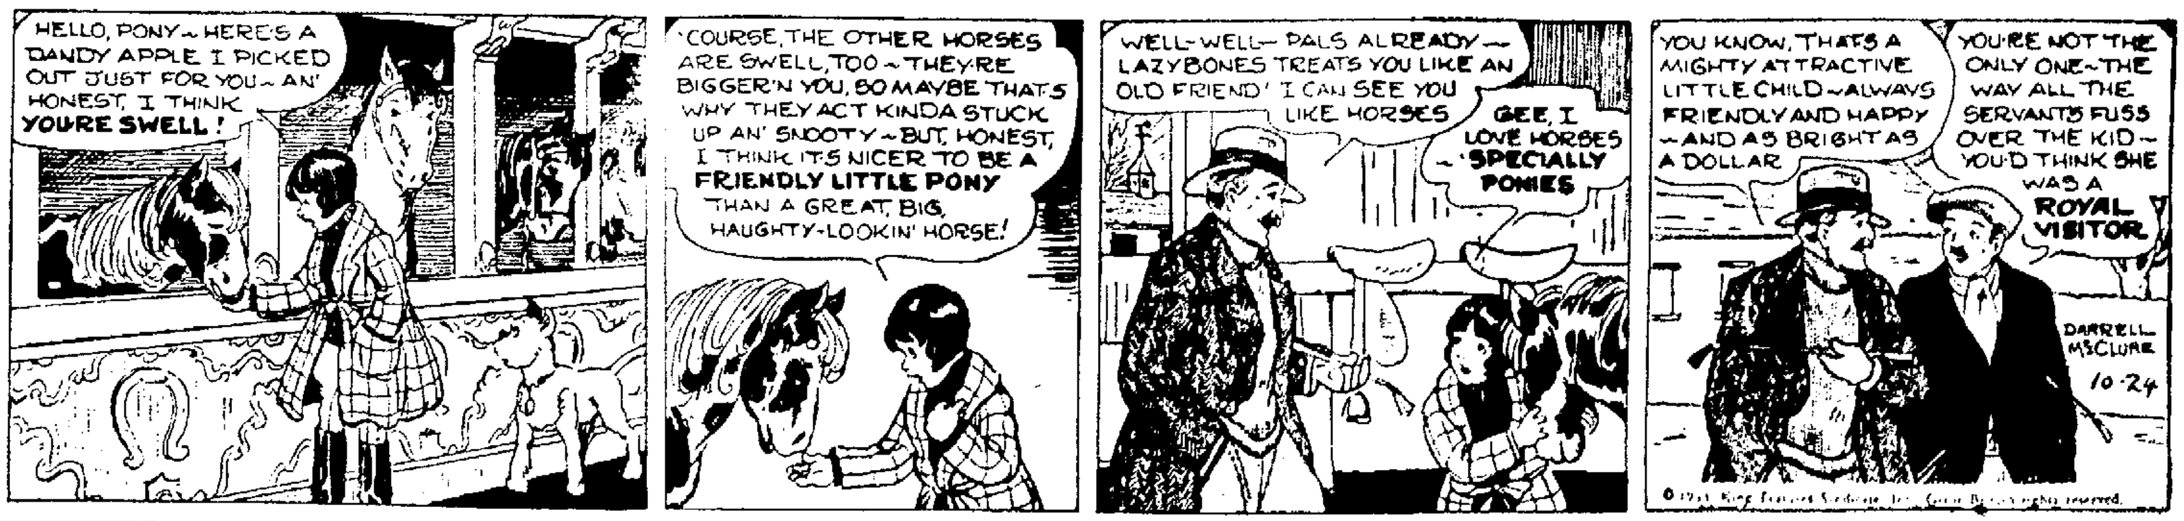
BY DARREL McCLURE



HELLO, PONY-HERE'S A DANDY APPLE I PICKED OUT JUST FOR YOU-AN' HONEST, I THINK YOU'RE SWELL!
'COURSE, THE OTHER HORSES ARE SWELL, TOO-THEY'RE BIGGER'N YOU, SO MAYBE THAT'S WHY THEY ACT KINDA STUCK UP AN' SNOOTY-BUT, HONEST, I THINK IT'S NICER TO BE A FRIENDLY LITTLE PONY THAN A GREAT, BIG, HAUGHTY-LOOKIN' HORSE!
WELL-WELL-PALS ALREADY-LAZYBONES TREATS YOU LIKE AN OLD FRIEND! I CAN SEE YOU LIKE HORSES
GEE, I LOVE HORSES-'SPECIALLY PONIES
YOU KNOW, THAT'S A MIGHTY ATTRACTIVE LITTLE CHILD-ALWAYS FRIENDLY AND HAPPY-AND AS BRIGHT AS A DOLLAR
YOU'RE NOT THE ONLY ONE-THE WAY ALL THE SERVANTS FUSS OVER THE KID-YOU'D THINK SHE WAS A ROYAL VISITOR

WHAT DO YUH THINK-MOM? THE MEN ARE OUTSIDE WITH A 'LECTRIC WASHIN'-MACHINE-WHAT I EXCHANGED FOR THE GOLF CLUBS!
REALLY?
THE GOLF CLUBS WERE WONDERFUL BUT THE WASHING-MACHINE JUST TOUCHES MY HEART-AND I DON'T KNOW HOW TO THANK MY APPLE DUMPLING FOR SUCH A LOVELY BIRTHDAY PRESENT!
AW, GOSH!!
HONEST-MOM-DO YUH REALLY LIKE THE WASHIN' MACHINE BETTER THAN YUH DID THE GOLF CLUBS?
OF COURSE, I DO! ISN'T IT A BEAUTIFUL WASH?

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

Proposing to repeal section 9 of article XV of the constitution of the state of Ohio, relative to prohibition.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1933, a proposal to repeal article XV, section 9 of the constitution of the state of Ohio.

Be it further resolved, That at such election above referred to, this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot in the manner provided by law in such form as the Secretary of State may designate. If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, section 9 of article XV of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled.

Adopted March 1, 1933.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
STATE OF OHIO,
Office of the Secretary of State.

I, GEORGE S. MYERS, Secretary of State of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the foregoing is copied from and carefully compared by me with the original Joint Resolution adopted by the 90th General Assembly of the State of Ohio on March 1, 1933, and now on file in my office and in my official custody as Secretary of State, and found to be true and correct. Said Joint Resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State on March 7th, 1933, and proposes to amend the constitution of the State of Ohio by repealing section 9 of article XV, which reads as follows:

ARTICLE XV, SECTION 9.

"The sale and manufacture for sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage are hereby prohibited. The General Assembly shall enact laws to make this provision effective. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the manufacture or sale of such liquors for medicinal, industrial, scientific, sacramental or other non-beverage purposes."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my official seal at Columbus, Ohio, this 11th day of September, A. D. 1933.

(SEAL) GEORGE S. MYERS,
Secretary of State.

MARION MAN FINED IN JUSTICE'S COURT

Richard Haberman of Delaware avenue, arraigned in the court of Justice of the Peace F. E. Weldaw of Upper Sandusky yesterday afternoon, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of driving past a school bus. The fine was suspended providing Haberman pays the costs.

Haberman pleaded not guilty to the charge, claiming the bus had not come to a stop and that the bus door was not open to receive or unload passengers.

WHEAT SOARS TO NEW HIGH

Gains Wiped Out Later as Profit Taking Wave Hits Market.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 24—Wheat rose [illegible] today to a new high point for the current movement of prices but profit-taking then more than wiped out gains.

There was no evidence of government buying of wheat today. On the other hand, considerable speculative purchasing of grain was based on expected stimulus from the government price of gold tomorrow. Bullish crop estimates from Canada were also a factor, and prospects of stoppage of United States imports of rye.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1@1¼ under yesterday's finish, corn ⅜ [illegible] down, oats [illegible] off to ¼ up, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 37 cents.

Wool Market.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct. 24—Although very little wool is being sold in the market here, quotations are showing practically no change from selling prices of the past several weeks. Small lots move occasionally as buyers come into the market to piece out stocks on hand. Holders of domestic wools are not making much effort to push sales but rather are inclined to await developments in the goods market. Quotations cabled from primary markets in Australia indicate markets there firmer to slightly higher than last week.

BURGLARS ENTER 2 FILLING STATIONS

Reports of thefts from two outlying filling stations were made to police this morning.

One of the burglaries occurred at the Linco filling station on South Prospect street, near the corporation limits, where burglars entered through a window and stole a quantity of canned goods, cigars, chewing gum, candy and peanuts.

The other theft was that of a chewing gum vending machine taken from the Standard Oil filling station on South Prospect street. A. Donough, manager of the station, notified police.

SENATE GROUP WARS ON RACKETS

MAN AND WOMAN UNDER ARREST HERE

Paroled Penitentiary Prisoner and Companion Held for Investigation.

A young woman thought to be an escaped inmate of the state institution for the feeble-minded in Columbus and a male companion who is a paroled convict from the Ohio penitentiary are being held in the city prison today while police and county authorities continue an investigation which was begun last night.

An early development in the case was a disclosure that a Ford coupe being used by the couple had been stolen yesterday shortly before their arrest from L. S. Irey of 983 East Center street.

The couple gave their names as Janette Armstrong, 21, of Cleveland, and Edward McGrew, 35, of Radnor. No charges are expected to be filed for a day or two, police said.

Arrest of the couple came after they were trailed by police last night for nearly two hours. Police had been given a tip of the couple's identity, which resulted in their arrest shortly after 5 p. m. at a West Center street rooming house.

Reports that McGrew and the young woman might be connected with recent thefts and burglaries in Marion county are being investigated.

McGrew is said to be out on parole from the penitentiary, where he was serving a 20-year sentence.

DEGREE CONFERRED AT GRANGE MEETING

Special to The Star

DENMARK, Oct. 24 — Canaan Grange met Thursday night. Two candidates took the obligation of the first and second degree and Gilead grange conferred the third and fourth degree on 13 candidates. The grange will hold a masquerade social at the hall Thursday night.

TRUSTEES TO HOLD MEET THURSDAY

Regular meeting of the Marion County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks will be held Thursday night at the LaRue school in charge of the trustees of Bowling Green and Montgomery townships.

It is expected that John Abel, recently named county relief director, and a representative of the state relief commission assisting Abel in setting up this county's relief headquarters, will talk.

Marion Boy in Musical Act on Bernie Program

Efforts of three young men, one of them a Marion youth, to achieve recognition in the radio field, have borne fruit.

The trio, consisting of Harold Waddell, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Waddell of South Vine street, Worth Kramer of Findlay and Leonard Klein of Cleveland, has been booked to appear with Ben Bernie and his radio orchestra on the stage of the Palace theater in Cleveland and also has been signed for a network radio broadcast this Wednesday at 5 p. m.

Their appearance on Bernie's program will start Friday and will continue during his week's engagement. It also is expected the trio will be heard with Bernie in his nationwide radio broadcast next Tuesday at 9 p. m. over the WEAF NBC network.

The Wednesday broadcast will be from 5 to 5:15 p. m. over the NBC-WJZ network, including stations WJR, Detroit, and WGAR, Cleveland, and WJZ, New York. The trio is known as Rohlf's Collegians, a tribute to Earl C. Rohlf, staff music director of station WGAR in Cleveland, where the youths are staff artists.

The Collegians started their musical career while in Ohio Wesleyan university, where they sang in college productions and at various functions. Two years ago they were staff artists at WTAM, Cleveland, for a summer.

AID PROVIDED FOR BANK INSURANCE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Millions in new capital today were available to help thousands of state banks join the federal deposit insurance system which becomes effective in 1934.

These non-members of the federal reserve system—numbering over 8,000—were urged by President Roosevelt to apply for admission to the deposit insurance fund.

To aid them in meeting requirements, Mr. Roosevelt established yesterday within the reconstruction corporation a special division for "bank cooperation in recovery" to make recommendations "for purchase by RFC of preferred stock." He named Harvey Couch, RFC director, to head the division.

COUPLE FINED FOR POSSESSION OF STILL

Former Marion Woman and Cardington Man Found Guilty at Mt. Gilead.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Oct. 24—Mrs. Betty Rothgang, formerly of Marion, and George F. Jones of near Cardington were fined $100 and costs by Judge P. H. Wieland in the common pleas court here Monday after he found them guilty on a charge of possessing a still which was confiscated by Sheriff Fred I. Struble at the Jones home. The testimony of James Inzes of the Palace Gardens of Marion was given Monday. Inzes admitted bringing a quantity of sugar to the Jones home. Jones was released on bond of $125 after receiving a stay of execution for 30 days and Mrs. Rothgang was committed to the county jail on failure to furnish bond. She was employed at the Palace Gardens on Saturdays and Sundays, Inzes testified.

Kill that COLD!

Don't Merely Coddle It with Half-Way Measures!

A cold is nothing to trifle with! It may end seriously. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for an internal treatment. It also calls for a COLD remedy and not something good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is direct and internal—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is sold by all druggists, 30c and 50c. Accept no substitute.—Adv.

Gone 20 Years, Bucyrus Youth Again Sees Kin

By The Associated Press

BUCYRUS, Oct. 24 — Twenty years ago a widowed mother of two children—a boy and a girl—placed the pair in a children's home in Cincinnati and went into the world to make her own living.

By terms laid down by the home, the mother was not to know the whereabouts of the children until they became of age.

Monday, the boy, familiarly known in this vicinity as David Steiger, and the mother, Mrs. H. V. Taft, now of Philadelphia, were arranging for the first meeting of the mother and daughter, now Mrs. Albert Kruse of Napoleon, O., within a few days.

The boy and the mother met late last week for the first time at a home in Bradford. They came to Bucyrus Monday for a visit.

Although not adopted, the boy has been reared by Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Steiger, prominent Bucyrus farmers.

Upon learning that his true name is David Wesel, the boy, it was reported, is planning to have his name changed to Wesel through court action here.

WOMAN FINED $100 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Pleads Guilty To Rum Possession After Police Raid Dwelling.

Mrs. Kate Wilson, 43, of 718 East George street, was fined $100 and costs yesterday afternoon by Municipal Judge William R. Martin on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

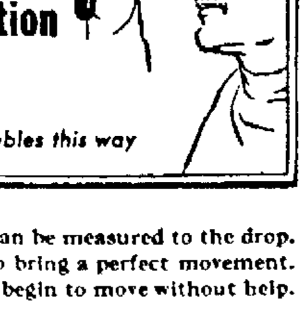
Will you experiment ONE WEEK to be RID of Constipation FOR LIFE?



Thousands have ended their bowel troubles this way

② Take the amount found to bring a perfect movement.
③ Reduce the dose, as bowels begin to move without help.

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure any case of constipation with salts, pills, tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit. You need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets may prove injurious.

What is a Safe Laxative?

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know anything about a preparation, ask some doctor about it. Temporary relief that you get from some habit-forming cathartic is very apt to be dearly bought.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional preparation with its ingredients stated on the label. By using it, you avoid bowel strain. You can keep the bowels regular, and comfortable. You can make constipated spells as rare as colds.

Make the LIQUID TEST:

A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative will prove to you that you are on the right track. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be as regular as clockwork. The secret is the right laxative, and the right dose. A laxative you can measure out, and reduce the dose as the need for help is reduced. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which every druggist keeps ready for use.
